House Employs "Gag Rule" To Defeat Inflationists

SILVER BLOC FIGHTS FOR AMENDMENT

Administration Chiefs Warn President to Veto Relief Bill as Drawn Up

VOTE MAY BE FORCED

Inflationists and Insurgents Opposed to Using "Gag Rule" on Measure

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(UP)—The house beat down today an attempt to force retention of the $1,000,000,000 silver-inflation rider in the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill and voted to send the measure to conference with the senate.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(UP)—A "gag rule" was brought up in the house today to send the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill to conference and kill off an inflation bloc drive for the Thomas $1,000,000,000 silver rider.

Inflationists and insurgents in favor of accepting the senate draft of the measure planned to force two votes in an effort to defeat the rule.

Administration leaders warned members that the bill in its present form would be vetoed by the president. They asserted they had sufficient votes to pass the rule, which automatically would send the bill to conference with the senate.

The house was in a riotous mood, comparable to the final fight over the Patman bonus bill.

Rep. John Rankin, D., Miss., fussed over the allotment of time to silverites during the limited debate. Finally Chairman John O'Connor of the rules committee agreed to one hour and a half of general debate instead of one hour.

Silverites were fighting for time. They wanted to try to force their silver doctrine among all doubtful members. A dozen members of the bloc backing the Thomas amendment scattered about the floor trying to win votes.

"We are opposed to adoption of this rule because we want these senate amendments retained in the bill," Rankin said. "If this bill is sent to conference, we have notice from the other side of the capitol that it will be delayed indefinitely."

"I urge you to vote down this rule so we may agree to the senate amendments and send the bill to the White House at once."

Chances of sending the bill to conference without instructions were enhanced when Rep. Joseph Martin, Mass., assistant Republican floor leader, announced his side would support the rule.

We are in favor of having a great question like this involving nearly $5,000,000,000 considered in regular and orderly fashion," Martin said, explaining that any changes made in conference would ultimately have to be considered by the house.

COMMUNIST TRIAL TO JURY ON FRIDAY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 26.—(UP)—Defense attorneys continued presenting final arguments today in what was expected to be the concluding week of the criminal syndicalism trial here.

Albert Goldman, Chicago attorney representing Norman Mineta, planned to end his argument today. He will be followed by six defendants who will plead their own cases. Leo Gallagher, attorney for the other seven defendants, will make the final defense argument.

Officials predicted the case would go to the jury by Friday.

Freight Train Rams Special Carrying CCC Workers in Kansas

DIGHTON, Kan., March 26.—(UP)—In a swirling dust storm that smothered lights and reduced visibility to a few feet, a freight train early today rammed a special passenger train loaded with CCC recruits as it backed into a siding on the Missouri Pacific line at Shields, 10 miles north of here.

Thirty recruits were bruised. They received first aid from two government physicians aboard the train and were not sent to hospital. Two trainmen were injured seriously.

Two tourist pullman coaches were derailed and splintered, and the freight engine leaped the tracks. Those aboard the two trains said it was remarkable that passengers on the two derailed pullmans were not injured more seriously or killed.

The wreck occurred at 3:50 o'clock.

A brakeman suffered a leg fracture and was sent to a hospital.

LIMIT SECURITIES ANNUITIES TO $50

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(UP)—The house ways and means committee today struck out of the economic security bill the provision enabling the small-salaried man to buy old age annuities enabling him to have an income of $100 a month when he reaches 65.

The committee voted a $50 maximum monthly limit on the amount of government annuities that a person may buy. Insurance companies fought the $100 a month provision.

By 13 to 11 the committee voted to retain the voluntary annuity section in the bill, but with the $50 a month limitation.

SIMS TAKES LEAD OVER CULBERTSON

NEW YORK, March 26.—(UP)—Due to heroic reserve on the part of all contestants, the greatest jollification hung over the bridge table in the Croicford club where early today ended the first round of the grudge match of the Culbertsons versus the Sims.

The Sims, (T. Hall Sims and the diminutive Mrs. Sims) led the Culbertsons, (Ely Culbertson and the sophisticated Mrs. Culbertson) 2,200 points. That was nothing, said Culbertson jauntily, in a battle that must go 150 rubbers in 21 nights of play.

Los Angeles Housewives In Boycott

Women to War on High Meat Prices in Neighborhood Butchers

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—(UP)—Alarmed at soaring meat prices, Los Angeles housewives had organized today in a "boycott" war against neighborhood butchers.

Meeting at the United Conference Against the High Cost of Living, 500 women last night voted to establish picket lines around markets until meat costs were reduced "within reason."

They also prepared to draft a protest to Agriculture Secretary Henry Wallace against rising food costs.

Militant leaders said they would attempt to enlist every housewife in the city in the drive to hammer prices back to "sane" levels.

Dieticians were asked to volunteer their services with recipes for "meat substitutes."

Plans to picket meat markets were drafted after the conference's action committee submitted a report in which butchers were accused of renegeing on a promise to support the campaign.

The committee declared butchers after promising to cooperate later met and denounced the women as "communists."

Officers said a mass meeting will be held soon to discuss affiliation with the Housewives' League of Chicago, a group pledged to the same crusade, and institute the movement on a nation-wide basis.

Although the local organization is warring against all food price increases, heaviest blows are being delivered against meat prices. These have risen approximately 25 per cent in the past year, according to a recent local survey.

Pork chops have advanced from 30 to 38 cents a pound; Lamb chops, 33 to 37 cents; bacon, 34 to 42; ham, 19 to 27; round steak 25 to 35, and T-bone, 35 to 45.

GOVERNMENT ASKS APPEAL DISMISSAL

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(UP)—The government will ask for a dismissal of its appeal before the supreme court of the controversial Belcher case involving the constitutionality of the lumber code, the department of justice announced today.

At the same time President Roosevelt in a letter to Donald R. Richberg emphasized his desire that "the full power of NRA" be invoked to prevent code violation and insist on compliance with the recovery act.

The president's letter indicated that the justice department decision against pressing the Belcher test case was not to be taken as any indication of relaxation of NRA enforcement.

CRISIS NEARS IN SEAMEN'S STRIKE

SAN PEDRO, Calif., March 26.—(UP)—A crisis in the Pacific coast oil tanker strike neared today. Oil company operators plan to man the idle vessels with strikebreakers tonight.

Operators previously had announced that the tankers would be moved out of Los Angeles harbor with non-union crews yesterday, but the threat was held off and the deadline set for tonight.

The operators were non-committal on the newest development in the labor dispute with tanker seamen over wages and "preferred hiring," but indicated that an important step was imminent.

Strikes leaders also were silent, saying "there won't be any trouble unless they try to put strikebreakers on the ships."

BUILDING ACTIVITY REVIVED IN SANTA ANA; PERMITS FOR YEAR EXCEED ALL OF 1934

REVIVAL of building activities in Santa Ana, in connection with the better housing program is making rapid progress, with nine new homes started this month, and the total of building permits this year to date far in advance of the total for the entire year of 1934.

In less than three months, the 1935 record shows 165 permits issued by S. L. Preble, city building inspector, aggregating $429,578, as compared with $354,134 for the entire twelve months of last year.

Extensive remodeling of existing business houses and homes is being carried on, in addition to the new construction, it is indicated, with several permits being issued each day for home modernization projects, store alterations, re-roof jobs, etc.

A frame and stucco residence to cost $6000 is being erected at 2454 North Park boulevard by Emmett C. Rogers of 2112 Greenleaf street, according to a permit issued on Saturday. Rogers is both owner and builder.

The ninth home permit issued this month went to Fred Siefert of 1314 West Fourth street, who is building a $1500 residence and garage at 2414 Valencia street.

Additional permits, including six issued yesterday, include the following:

Elmer estate; store alterations at 220 West Fifth street, $400.

ROOSEVELT OFF TO FLORIDA ON FISHING TRIP

Outlines Legislative Program to Leaders Before Boarding Train

A BOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, EN ROUTE JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 26.—(UP)—President Roosevelt sped southward today for a two weeks' vacation in Bahama waters.

Before leaving Washington he outlined to congressional leaders a legislative program which he wishes congress at least to consider before it adjourns. Legislation which he wishes given preferred consideration includes:

Social security as it relates to both old age and pension and unemployment insurance.

Federal elimination of utility holding company abuses.

Increased capital for the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

Transportation legislation affecting aviation, shipping, buses, trucks and railroads.

Two-year extension of NRA.

Banking legislation to strengthen authority of the federal reserve over currency and credit.

Tightening up of pure food and drug laws.

The president's wishes were made known in last-hour conversations with Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, House Speaker Joseph Byrnes, and James P. Buchanan, D., Tex., chairman of the house appropriation committee.

"It is not felt any particular measure is in the class of requiring immediate action but it is believed there are a number of subjects entitled to early consideration," Robinson said after a half-hour conversation with the president.

"It cannot be determined now whether this legislation can be completed at the present session."

The president left a few hours.

STATE TO REST IN LAMSON'S RETRIAL

SAN JOSE, Calif., March 26.—(UP)—The state was expected to complete its presentation of evidence today in the second murder trial of David A. Lamson.

Barring surprise witnesses, the prosecution will finish its case by offering medical and scientific testimony to substantiate its charges that Lamson struck and killed his wife with an iron pipe on Memorial day in 1933.

Dr. A. M. Moody, San Francisco, was called late yesterday to support the blood stain theories of Dr. Frederick Proeschner, Santa Clara county pathologist.

Moody testified to tests which purportedly showed that the heat would not remove stains from pipe similar to the piece the state claims is the slaying weapon.

Picking Of New Citrus Crop Begins

Several Boatloads to Go Out of San Pedro During This Week

SHIPMENTS of Orange county Valencia oranges to foreign ports will be started this week, as picking operations were started in many sections of the county nearly a month ahead of former years, it was learned today.

Most of the association houses in Orange county are picking Valencia oranges this week, with the Santiago house in Orange, the largest in the county, starting yesterday, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

Several boatloads of Valencia will leave San Pedro this week and next week. Fruit for export must be up to the same standards of maturity as for domestic use.

An unusually favorable foreign market situation and the early season here combined for an excellent shipping opportunity. The freeze which was disastrous to the Spanish orange crop and the heavy rains which made Palestine oranges unfit for shipment helped to create the demand for California oranges. Germany has put a ban on Spanish oranges because of shipments of poor fruit, it was reported. Trade in Germany, however, Wahlberg said, will be mostly limited to exchange in goods because of the policy of the German government along this line.

Shipments of fruit going out this week are headed for Scandinavian countries, to the British ports and to France. Fruit for domestic use will not be shipped until later in the season.

Wahlberg said it has been estimated that the California Valencia crop will amount to about 6000 more carloads this year than last year. This, he said, means that the Orange county crop will be about 3000 carloads ahead of last year. Last year the average size of Valencia was around 243 packed to the box. This year the prediction is that the fruit will be a little larger, running from about 210's to 216's.

HAYS BEGINS 12TH YEAR WITH MOVIES

NEW YORK, March 26.—(UP)—Will A. Hays, entering his 12th year as czar of motion pictures today, counseled producers to strive for still higher literary and artistic values in pictures now that they had met the challenge for cleaner films.

He praised the industry for its strides during 1934 in its annual report as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. Re-elected with Hays were the other officers and directors.

Hays predicted that motion pictures of the future will deliver more deeply into the greatest of old and new masterpieces of dramatic literature. At the same time he advised against relying too much upon adaptation of novels and stage plays. Original screen plays continue to be greatly needed, he believes.

CALIFORNIA MARKET AGREEMENT OKAYED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 26.—(UP)—A California marketing agreement to conform with provisions of the federal agricultural adjustment administration was given approval of the senate agricultural committee last night.

The measure would establish a state authority, provide for licensing of those engaged in intrastate trade, set up marketing agreements and horticulturalists having agreements under the federal code would come under provisions of the act.

According to the Bureau of Agriculture, the measure would mean a saving of $2,000,000 yearly to California farmers and would prohibit "bootlegging" in farm produce.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 26.—(UP)—A sweeping investigation into a statement attributed to Nathan J. E. Elliott, Los Angeles truck lobbyist, that he "controlled" the Southern California delegation in the legislature was ordered today by the assembly.

The inquiry was asked in a resolution introduced by Assemblymen C. Don Field, Glendale; Harry B. Riley, Long Beach, and C. C. Cottrell, San Jose, and immediately drew charges that many lobbyists were little more than "racketeers."

The resolution, calling for appointment of a committee of three, was passed by a vote of 73 to 5.

In pointing out the need of an inquiry, the resolution said:

MINING EXECUTIVE FREEZES TO DEATH

SENNETERRE, Que., March 26.—(UP)—Stanley E. Siscoe, Montreal mining executive, who crashed in northern Quebec last Tuesday was found frozen to death today, two and one-half miles from the spot where his plane landed.

Siscoe and Capt. Tom Wrathall, pilot, left Montreal a week ago to fly to Amos on an inspection tour of mining property. They were forced down in northern Quebec.

They stood by their plane until Sunday, when Siscoe left on foot in an effort to find his way to safety.

Wrathall remained near the plane until shortly before he was rescued yesterday. He had walked 21-2 miles from the plane.

CALIFORNIA BANDIT SENTENCED FOR LIFE

CHICAGO, March 26.—(UP)—John Paul Chase, young California bootlegger who joined the John Dillinger gang just in time to see it wiped out, was sentenced to life imprisonment by a federal court jury last night for murder of a justice department agent.

The jury found him guilty and agreed on the prison sentence in three hours, 45 minutes.

Death by hanging would have been mandatory had the jury not recommended mercy.

The crime of which Chase was convicted was the slaying of Samuel P. Cowley, inspector of the justice department's bureau of investigation.

LITHUANIAN EXECUTIONS HELP CAUSE

Four Germans Sentenced to Death and 83 Others to Get Prison Sentences

CONFERENCE RESUMED

Believed Hitler-Simon Negotiations to Be Ended Today; Crisis Near

BULLETIN

BERLIN, March 26.—(UP)—German conversations on peace in Europe ended tonight without conclusion of a formal agreement.

Sir John Simon and the British delegation did not appear downhearted, however, and the British were represented as convinced they acted rightly in visiting Berlin for the discussions.

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)

BERLIN, March 26.—(UP)—Adolf Hitler's diplomatic hand was strengthened in his arms negotiations with Sir John Simon today by news that four Germans of Memel territory had been sentenced to death and 83 to prison terms.

Only yesterday Hitler had advanced the Memel situation as one of Germany's reasons for hating the World war treaties.

Bitter comment from an official spokesman indicated that the impulsive Hitler must have told Simon today.

Hitler's argument had been that the situation in Memel, taken from Germany after the World war and then given to Lithuania, was intolerable. It is largely German. Today's sentences—regarded even in Lithuania as severe—were an argument that Germans were oppressed.

The news came just before the end of a three-hour conference among Hitler, Simon and their aides.

Helps Hitler

Political observers predicted that it would give Hitler a decided advantage in the afternoon session—at which, it was hoped, the negotiations might find basis for an eventual agreement leading to a general European conference of pacification.

Hitler took occasion to remark with emphasis that it was proof

TRIAL OF AMERICAN SPIES IS RESUMED

PARIS, March 26.—(UP)—Robert G. Switz and his wife adopted peculiarly contradictory attitudes today at their trial for espionage.

The American aviator appeared contrite, halting in his explanations of reasons he embarked on the dangerous international project and inclined to argue with the judges that he was actually "operating for France."

Marjorie was defiant. She said to leave the court she was "said to be a spy" and that her greatest ambition in life had been realized when she met Mme. Lydia Stahlin leader of the spy ring.

Mrs. Switz was smiling when she entered the court. Her husband was pale.

HUGE AIR LINER IS FORCED TO RETURN

MIAMI, Fla., March 26.—(UP)—Motor trouble forced the Pan-American Clipper, trail blazer of a trans-Pacific air line, to turn back today after the 19-ton ship took off on the first leg of a two-day flight to San Francisco.

The Clipper took off at 8:47 a. m. today after being delayed by fog, but Chief Pilot Edwin Musick radioed the International airport here a few minutes later that he was turning around and would land shortly, which he did. The weather was clear.

The plane started with Alapulco, State of Guerrero, on the west coast of Mexico, as its destination. The start will be made tomorrow.

at Scott City. A Pullman conductor was bruised severely. Those were the worst casualties.

The 16-coach special was carrying CCC recruits from Medford, Ore., to Fort Sheridan, near Chicago. The youths were Illinois and Oregon residents.

The special was backing onto a siding when the freight, proceeding slowly, crashed it. The freight engineer told county authorities the dust was so thick he could not see the train's lights, but that because of the storm and the knowledge that the siding was near, he was running at reduced speed.

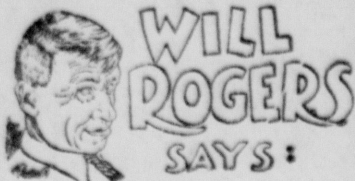

As the engine crashed into the side of the first car it gave way and then the second car was pushed off the rails and splintered. Recruits, in night attire, tumbled out of the wreckage and scampered to safety. Others from the undamaged Pullmans came running to aid, but there was little need.

The train carried 388 recruits, their baggage and kitchen and dining cars. The bruised recruits were taken into one of the dining cars where the government doctors patched them up and sent them to bed. After they attended the brakeman and conductor they recommended they be taken to hospitals.

FATHER OF TWELVE MURDERS HIS SON

ROGERS CITY, Mich., March 26.—(UP)—The father of 12 children, said by police to have confessed killing his son with a hammer during an argument over a pair of socks, was to be charged with first degree murder today.

Joseph Weinckowski, 46, was arrested after the body of his son, Gregory, 17, was found in a ditch of water. Authorities traced buggy tracks to the Weinckowski farm. "I have had trouble with that boy since he was 14 years old," the father said. "Saturday, I found him wearing a pair of my socks. We got to shouting at each other while we were doing the chores in the barn."

"I was afraid he was going to hit me or something, so I grabbed a hammer and hit him hard on the head."

of the seriousness of the situation from the German viewpoint and to repeat Germany's insistence that guarantor powers act to protect Germans in Memel.

It was said on reliable authority that Hitler was temperate and made no specific demands such as that a plebiscite be held. But it was believed that the verdict strengthened Germany not only as regards Memel itself but as regards arguments that portions of the peace treaties are ineffective and unfair to Germany.

A government spokesman said:

Makes Statement
"The Memel verdict puts the situation in a most lurid light. It should prove that foreign guarantor powers of the rights of Germans in Memel must wake up. It should strengthen our hands in demanding a show down on Memel. The situation there and the administration of the Memel statute are obviously untenable. It is impossible that Germans should be sentenced in peace time."

German quarters believed discussions might end this evening. Hitler repeated arguments for a series of direct and regional non-aggression treaties and was said to have submitted extensive new material regarding Russian armaments, gathered by German agents in Russia. He repeated his arguments that Russia hated Nazism and said again that Germany feared Communism.

There were also on the agenda Germany's reentrance to the league of nations, the proposed aerial defense treaty and disarmament.

FOUR MEN SENTENCED TO DEATH IN MEMEL

KOVNO, Lithuania, March 26.—(UP)—Four men were sentenced to death today in the court verdict on cases of 122 Germans of the Memel territory charged with plotting to separate Memel from Lithuania.

Eighty-three of the defendants were given prison terms. Thirty-five were acquitted, most of them youths.

The verdict was calculated to rouse bitter resentment in Germany. Adolf Hitler was believed to have mentioned the Kovno trial to Sir John Simon yesterday. It was reported that Hitler also complained generally of treatment given to Germans in Memel, which was taken from Germany after the world war and allotted to Lithuania.

Those sentenced to death were found guilty of murdering Georg Jessutis. He was alleged to have been one of the plotters—all of Nazi leaning—but to have exposed the plot to Lithuanian authorities.

Two men were sentenced to life imprisonment.

Get 12 Years

Ernst Neimann, a leader of the Nazi faction in Memel and of the People's Socialist union, and his chief aide were sentenced to 12 years in prison.

Seven men received terms of 10 years.

Baron Von Sass, leader of the Christian Socialist Workers union, and 12 of his followers received eight years each.

Konrad von Dressler, former president of the Memel diet, and two of his men also received eight years.

Other men convicted received sentences of from five to six years, except for two who received shorter terms.

The trial lasted three months. At its conclusion March 8 the prosecution demanded five death sentences, and prison terms totaling 1400 years.

The severity of today's sentences caused public surprise even here. The men sentenced to death were Walter Priess, Ewald Boll, Emil Lepa and Heinrich Wanasanagat. Those who got life were Johann and Ernest Wallat, also accused of Jessutis' murder.

Government authorities attached great political importance to the trial. They sought to offset complaints of treatment of Germans in Memel with open evidence that repressive measures had been necessary to preserve order.

CITIZENS ASK INCREASE IN POLICE WORK

Increased police protection at San Juan Capistrano was asked by a delegation of Capistrano citizens, Clarence Brown, Arley Lock, Walter Congdon and Dan Morgan, who told the board that the liquor situation had aggravated conditions to such extent that their community felt the need of more protection, particularly at night.

They suggested that the county contribute $75 per month toward the salary of Constable Jack Combs, of San Juan township, who receives $25 salary. The increase, they pointed out, would enable Constable Combs to put in full time with police work.

While rejecting that suggestion as impossible, the supervisors promised to take the matter under advisement and seek a solution for the problem.

the entire Southern California delegation and can say whether a bill is to be passed or defeated and it will take $33,000 to do it."

"This resolution vitally affects every member of this house," Field said. "It is this type of lobbyist that puts the stamp of disapproval on this house."

Assemblyman Ernest O. Voigt, Los Angeles, joined in the tirade against activities of lobbyists.

"The real subversive influences are not the communists, but these leeches—these lobbyists. I would like to show them up for what they really are," he said.

A more extensive inquiry was proposed by Assemblyman Jesse Mayo, Angeles Camp, who said there were "too many cinch ball artists living in splendor" as a result of the development of the lobbying racket.

While there was some opposition to the resolution on the ground the assembly had more important business to consider, it was the general opinion that this case should be investigated and made an "example" to other lobbyists, many of whom reportedly have made statements throughout the state concerning their ability to control votes.

"It seems to be a question of whether votes have been or have not been bought," said Assemblyman Geoffrey Morgan, Santa Monica, "and it should be settled at once."

Elliott's asserted statements were called to the attention of the legislature last night when he appeared before a senate committee in opposition to a bill placing truck operators under jurisdiction of the railroad commission.

W. B. Dwyer, president of the River Lines, and Ben Morris, president of the Truck Owners' Association of California, both charged Elliott with having boasted he could "defeat or pass any bill before the legislature." Dwyer also charged that Elliott had tried to "shake down" truck operators for $33,000 to support the measure, and when they refused to deal with him, decided to oppose the truck bill.

A WORD OF COMFORT

The rightful "fear" of God rests upon a sense of deep and abiding reverence, which leads undeviatingly to faith in His love, and strives to fulfill His will to avoid bruising His heart, rather than to escape some penalty.

It is this kind of "fear" which the Psalmist calls "the beginning of wisdom," and which cultivates faith, hope and love.

While you lack the capacity to understand the "why" and "how" of His work in the world, never permit yourself to doubt that He is in process of bringing satisfaction to your deepest yearnings.

COSTA MESA DEFENSE GIVES TESTIMONY IN INJURIES TODAY SUPPORT SUIT

Marking the fourteenth traffic death in Orange county this year, two more than at this date last year, Ukichi Hirata, 55, Japanese resident of Seventeenth and Whit- tier streets, Costa Mesa, died at St. Joseph's hospital this morning at 7:05 o'clock.

Hirata received a fractured skull last evening at 7 o'clock in a spectacular crash at Eighteenth street and Newport boulevard, Costa Mesa, when his car collided with a machine driven by M. Ferdinandusse, 60, of 2504 Ocean avenue, Newport Beach.

Ferdinandusse was not injured. Both men were riding alone. It was reported, and the accident occurred when Hirata cut the corner when turning onto Eighteenth street from Newport boulevard into the path of the other car, whose approaching speed he misjudged.

The body is at the Dixon mortuary at Costa Mesa, where the inquest probably will be held.

Testimony that a private detective, stretched full length under the floor of a Hollywood duplex apartment, with his ear glued to a ventilator grating in the floor, overheard Esther Keller lay plans for getting money from A. W. Cleaver, Fullerton laundryman, whom she now is suing for $45,000 for the support and education of her two-year-old son, was given today in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, as Cleaver commenced his defense to the suit of the former laundry girl. She claims he is father of her child.

The plaintiff had rested, her case a few minutes earlier, after Cleaver, questioned by her attorney, Joe Wagner, stated that he had transferred all of his property to his wife, Mrs. Kathryn Cleaver, as a Christmas present in 1933, because his health was bad at that time and he feared that he "might drop off any time."

Thomas R. Daniels, the detective, testified that he had concealed himself under the floor of the girl's apartment on North Harvard Drive, Hollywood, on several occasions starting June 2, 1934. He was there on that date for 24 hours, he said, getting what scraps of conversation he could, through the ventilator grating.

He heard a girl named Grace, later identified as Grace Keller, advise Miss Keller to get some money from a man referred to as "Honey," but "Honey," Miss Keller replied, was back east and could not be reached. Grace then suggested she see Cleaver, but Miss Keller was doubtful that Cleaver would talk to her.

Further bits of conversation related by Daniels on the stand today included the statement of Miss Keller to a girl friend named Jerry, that she couldn't think of anyone who would finance an operation for her.

"Why don't you try George?" the woman companion suggested, but Miss Keller replied, according to the witness, that George already had financed three operations for her.

Daniels was still on the stand when the noon recess arrived. Cleaver was expected to return to the stand briefly, this afternoon, with deeds and other documentary evidence that his property had been transferred to his wife.

Miss Keller, who claims that Cleaver contributed $50 per week to her support up to June, 1934, exhibited bank books in court yesterday showing deposits of $368.31 between March 23, 1928, and August 22, 1934. Cleaver gave her all this money, she claimed.

The girl, now 27, said she was 17 when she first began her affair with her employer, Cleaver, in 1925.

During her cross-examination by F. C. Drumm, of defense counsel, the defense paid particular attention to a trip to Pasadena the girl made on Labor Day, 1931, some months before the birth of her baby.

"Chuck" Thamer, of Fullerton, was her escort, she said, another couple, Thelma Kennedy and Wally Larson accompanying them.

Local electric dealers are showing a fine line of electric ranges and are cooperating fully in the campaign, which is conducted for a limited time, the announcement said.

"Several features of this campaign combine to make its duration the most advantageous time to purchase an electric range," Bacon stated. "The most important is the new monthly plan, which is the most liberal ever offered. No down payment is necessary and the housewife uses her range in her home for 30 days before she makes her first payment."

"The reduced electrical rate which is put into effect with use of an electric range is another reason why housewives are interested in its purchase. This lower rate, the domestic whole-sale rate, applies to all uses of electricity in the home—not only for cooking but also for lighting, heating, refrigeration, and all the other applications of electricity to increase the comfort of home life.

What is said to be the most attractive opportunity ever offered for the purchase of electric ranges is being extended to Southern California housewives during the intensive sales campaign now in progress in territory served by the Southern California Edison company, according to a statement made today by R. Deputy Coroner Bert Casteix announced today that an inquest over the bodies of the Lowe children will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Harrell and Brown mortuary, where funeral services will be held, probably on Thursday.

PEACE MOVEMENT LEADER HOLDS WORLD COURT, LEAGUE ONLY PREVENTIVE OF WAR

"War is not inevitable, but unless the present policy is reversed, and Germany is back in the League of Nations, and disarmament achieved, there will be war."

With this statement, Dr. Fredrick Libby secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, comprising about 20 of the peace movements of United States, summed up the situation after delivering an address last night on the movements in Europe, and the status, so far as arming is concerned, of those nations. He talked at the International Relations Council meeting in Fullerton.

He continued, to say the one thin thread on which a disaster prevention hangs is the contact the United States has with the league, slender as it is, and the world-wide stir that has been made by the munitions investigation of United States Senator Nye. "Our government has worked out a plan that is 90 per cent effective, and if we get the consent of Germany and France to accept it, war is not inevitable," he said.

Hope Remains

"Would we be drawn into a war in Europe, if we fail to join the League of Nations and the World Court? Joining those two organizations and preventing war is the one great hope of preventing a disaster; we were not drawn into the last war because we were attempting to assist Europe in effecting peace."

"We were drawn into the World war because of trade; and if another war breaks in Europe, will the American farmer resist $2.00 wheat; will the American cotton grower resist 40 cent cotton; will the factory worker and those factory people resist profits brought about through selling to war ridden Europe? Will our munition makers refuse to sell to warring nations?"

"I deny to that point that we will stay out of a war; to that point we would be greedy and make money out of the war. Then we would sell to belligerents, ships would be sunk taking across goods,

Dr. Libby said that his group has set through every conference at the hearings of munition makers, and he told of the findings of how lobbyists, paid enormous sums, are employed to kill peace movements; to propagandize newspapers and magazines and influence legislative acts. He said the papers, at present, have practically stopped printing news of the investigation, and intimidated that that is part of the propaganda, while the investigation continues more intensely than ever.

Lentz Affords Protection For Local Citizens

Earl Lentz, leading candidate for the post of chief of police, has afforded splendid protection for Santa Ana businessmen and workers while filling the job of city license inspector for the past several years, it was declared today by his friends in urging his election on April 8.

Lentz is a former experienced police officer and was selected by Councilman George F. Phee, deceased, to assist in the collection of city licenses when this work was transferred from the police department to the city clerk's office in 1924.

Up to that time the protection afforded local business establishments against outside competition had been most unsatisfactory, and many outsiders escaped paying city licenses entirely, while such payments were required from local firms.

With the appointment of Lentz to the job, conditions immediately improved, together with increased revenues to the city, and in the peak year of 1931, a total of $45,827 was collected in licenses including collections from 427 out-of-town business firms. This, Lentz' friends point, brought about fair competition, with greater employment for Santa Ana workers, and fair competition between business firms.

The city treasury has benefited, during Lentz' incumbency as license inspector from 1924 to 1934 inclusive, to the extent of $449,382, thus building up the city and lessening the burden upon real estate owners, it was declared.

Lentz has proven himself courteous, honest, conscientious, aggressive, capable, and fair, and would make an unusually successful and satisfactory chief of police for Santa Ana, his many friends declare, and urge a concentration of votes upon him at the April 8 election as the one candidate who has a chance to defeat the present police chief.

You can be sure of two things: First, that Lentz will give the city fair and impartial law enforcement; and second, that he will exercise his own judgment and not "sell out" to any individual or group. HE CANNOT BE BOUGHT, and will give Santa Ana the kind of police service which is sorely needed throughout America at the present time.

LEGAYE ISSUES CHALLENGE TO FOES

AN OPEN LETTER

TO THE CITIZENS OF SANTA ANA:

Friends of mine throughout the city, both over the telephone and in person, have told me that some individuals or group of individuals are making it their business to try to break down my reputation and to injure me before you, as I am a candidate for the city council.

Some of these stories are exceedingly personal and all of them which I have heard are positively untrue. Among the political stories which they are telling are that I am in favor of charging 65 cents per family per month for the collection of garbage; again, that I am in favor of the firemen collecting the garbage, further that I said that a dollar a day was enough for any workman.

These stories have absolutely no foundation in fact, and I am very confident that those who started them know they have no foundation in fact. LOOK AT MY RECORD. The only place you will find me for increased expenditure is for more wages of the lower brackets, like the firemen, patrolmen and others.

STILL THERE IS A LIE FACTORY THAT IS RUNNING OVERTIME RIGHT NOW IN SANTA ANA.

I think I know why that lie factory has started and I think I know why it is kept going. The reason why these people are trying to assassinate my reputation is not because they are interested in me personally, but because they are interested in financial deals and IN GETTING MONEY OUT OF THE CITY TREASURY, WHICH I HAVE PREVENTED THEM FROM GETTING.

When I accepted a place on the city council, I did so to serve your interest and no special group. I was not and am not under obligations to any political organization or group which is trying to get money out of the city treasury, nor any contractors whose proposition it is to increase the cost of contracts for their own ends.

AS A CITIZEN AND A BUSINESS MAN I KNOW THAT WE HAVE TO KEEP TAXES DOWN IN SANTA ANA, AS WE MUST IN ORANGE COUNTY, IN THE STATE AND IN THE NATION AND I HAVE ASSUMED THAT POSITION CONSTANTLY IN THE COUNCIL.

As I refused to vote for various appropriations for this group, I found that the leaders of these groups were opposing me on every hand. I found members of the city council who seemed to be under their influence and voted as they desired at all times, made it as difficult for me as possible to stand for the interests of the citizens of the city.

I am not surprised, knowing the facts as I do, that the untruthful stories are being told.

There is only one member of the present city council who has been elected by the people. Both because of what I understand the law to be, and in the interest of the principles of representative government, I voted for the council to submit their election to the people before this time. I believed the law provided for it and I believed that we were an illegal council.

When it came to the purchase of bonds for the city hall, which bonds had been voted by the people, the attorneys for the bond buyers would not accept the bonds because of their fear of the illegality of the council, so that they had to pass an enabling act through the legislature to make our bonds legal. This was a complete vindication of the position I have taken.

I WANT TO SAY TO YOU VOTERS THAT THE REASON THESE MEN ARE FIGHTING ME IS BECAUSE I HAVE BEEN FIGHTING FOR YOU. WE CANNOT AFFORD IN THIS CITY, NOT IN ANY OTHER CITY, FOR SOME TIME TO COME, TO SPEND MONEY UNREASONABLY.

THE NEEDS OF THE UNEMPLOYED AND THE NEEDS OF THE WORKERS IN THE LOWER BRACKETS WHO ARE WORKING FOR THE CITY SHOULD BE OUR FIRST CONCERN, WITH ANY MONEY WE HAVE.

Voters, I count you as my friends. I have to depend upon the masses of the people. Those people who are interested in special ends for special groups are opposed to me. Those who are opposed to me are lying about me.

I ASK THAT YOU SHALL CHALLENGE ANY MAN WHO TELLS YOU ANY STORY REFLECTING UPON ME—LET ME MEET HIM FACE TO FACE WITH IT. I WILL BE HAPPY TO DO IT, BUT DON'T LET HIM LIE TO YOU BEHIND MY BACK. MY TELEPHONE IS 2564-M. MY HOME ADDRESS IS 121 E. WASHINGTON.

When any person tries to whisper something concerning me that reflects upon me, just say, as a friend and a citizen, "Let's confront Mr. LeGaye with that, or let's bring it out in the open where he can meet it." Insist that it shall not be whispered but that I shall have the opportunity to meet it as a man face to face.

I shall aim to be ready to respond to the telephone and be at home between the hours of 9:00 and 10:30 each morning, where you can get me and I will meet any man at any time, if you want to bring any of these traffickers in reputations to my home.

I AM STANDING FOR ECONOMY IN GOVERNMENT. I BELIEVE THAT THIS IS NO TIME FOR US TO SPEND MONEY, EXCEPT FOR NECESSARY GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS: THAT THE ONLY PEOPLE WHO SHOULD SPEND IT ARE THOSE WHOM YOU HAVE ELECTED TO OFFICE AS YOUR TRUSTEES, AND THIRD, THAT NO MORE MONEY BE SPENT THAN IS NECESSARY FOR THE REQUIREMENTS OF GOVERNMENT.

There are those who are taking the same identical position with me and who are also candidates for trustees in this city. They are openly pledged to you for the same policy as I have upheld. On the other hand, there are those who have refused, after having several opportunities, to stand for these propositions. I ask you to vote for your own interest, not for the interest of a special group by supporting the Taxpayers Ticket for the Council. The way is clear.

If you believe that it has been wise to cut down the expenses of the city over $200,000 per year in this time of depression, vote for those who will keep it down.

I BELIEVE IN A CITY OF PROGRESS. NO CITY OR MAN CAN MAKE PROGRESS THAT'S BROKE. KEEP A CITY SOLVENT AND HOMESEKERS WILL SETTLE THERE.

But in any case, insist on a SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERY MAN WHO IS A CANDIDATE and insist that every man shall have the privilege of meeting his accuser face to face, and that his accuser shall not be permitted to get around the corner secretly and lie about a man simply because of his stand for the people's interest in a public office.

Your respectfully,

(Signed) A. F. LE GAYE.

ARREST THREE; SOLVE HORSE THEFT SERIES

An alleged horse-stealing ring, reaching throughout Southern California and with Japanese farmers as the principal victims, was believed to have been broken up today through effective work of the Orange county sheriff's office, which landed three of the alleged horse thieves in the Los Angeles jail.

Modern methods were brought into play last week when K. Yamashita, Japanese truck gardener at Crystal Cove, between Corona, Del. Mar and Laguna Beach, reported the theft of two horses from his ranch on Monday evening, March 18.

Steve Duhamel and Harvey Glick, deputy sheriffs, and R. R. Lutes of the identification bureau, were assigned to the case, and visited the scene of the crime.

Copy Trailer Tracks
There were no horse trails to follow, but there were the tracks of an automobile trailer wheel near the corrals, and Lutes made a cast of this evidence for future use.

Joe Silva, an employee of Yamashita, had seen the car and trailer take the horses, but supposed his boss had sold them and gave no alarm. He was able to give the officers a general description of the trailer, and said there were at least three men in the party. They drove past Yamashita's house to the corrals, and he heard one of the men say something about "getting the collars," which they did.

Yamashita reported one of the stolen horses had been bought in January from a dealer named Ira Sprague, in Los Angeles, who also conducted a second hand implement business.

Seeking to get a more accurate description of the stolen animal sold to Yamashita by Sprague, the investigating officers went to Los Angeles and asked Sprague regarding the brand marks upon the horse. While there, they saw a trailer which fitted the general description given them by Silva.

Lutes returned to Sprague's place, upon the pretext of buying a used Towner disc plow, and while there compared the cast taken of the trailer track at Crystal Cove with the trailer itself, and they matched perfectly.

With this as the beginning of definite evidence, the case was worked up, Los Angeles officers who had been trying to solve many horse-theft mysteries unsuccessfully, were contacted, and yesterday Sprague and two of his employees, Edwin Thatcher and Mark L. Hughson were lodged in jail.

Returned For Trial

It was expected that Sprague, Thatcher and Hughson would be brought to Santa Ana today for trial.

Officially, the charge against the men ranks as grand theft, and the complaint was sworn to by Yamashita.

Sprague, it is alleged, made it a practice to sell horses to Japanese on time payments and then stole them again under the guise of repossession for non-payment of balance due, releasing the horses when the buyer, in a few cases, actually paid the remainder of the purchase price. He is said to have sold a team of horses to Yamashita two months ago, when he became familiar with the Crystal Cove layout, and returned last Monday night to take two horses, including one of those which he had previously sold, thus leading officers to his arrest.

Horse owners of the county have been active in co-operating with officers to break up the theft ring, and it is believed the arrest of Sprague and his associates will solve many cases which have been puzzling officers of Los Angeles and other Southern cities.

CRUEL BLOW IS TAKEN LIKE A MAN BY YOUTH

By F. R.

The biggest little man in Santa Ana!

He has just turned eight, but Sunday night took one of life's cruellest punches on the chin like a man.

In a few brief minutes, Walter Lowe, saw sunshine turned to darkness when a car zoomed out of the night to plow through his car, crushing to death "big sister" and "little brother," and bring hurt and grief to the young mother, driver of the car, and to a young cousin and family friend.

It was Walter who, alone of that car full was unhurt, helped find his injured mother in a water and mud filled ditch.

It was Walter who saw a helpful passerby take away the crushed and bleeding bodies of his sister and brother.

It was Walter whose tiny arms encircled the mud-caked and water and blood soaked form of his dazed mother, soled her with his baby voice when she cried out for "her babies."

It was Walter who directed helpers to his "dad" in Santa Ana.

And it was Walter who spoke softly to the numbed and miserable driver of the death car.

Last night, we prayed for those two very little ones, that God might be lenient their first night there. That they would not miss the small world here in heaven's immensity, and that on just their first morning there God would do those homey things for them that mother did when first they woke.

We prayed for that father and mother, for strength and comfort and understanding love.

We prayed for courage and recovery for the two young friends.

And we prayed for the biggest little man in Santa Ana. For so very much love from Him above, that the horrible things he saw and so bravely faced may fade with time into oblivion, and make him the biggest big man as the years pass on.

and Harry A. Miller of Laguna Beach; her mother, Mrs. Hoeter McKinsey, of Tustin; two sisters, Mrs. Lula Kallama, of Tustin and Mrs. Elsie Haskett, of Corvallis, Calif.; four brothers, Alvin McKinsey of Eugene, Ore., George H. McKinsey, of Modesto, V. A. McKinsey and James McKinsey, both of Santa Ana, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at a date to be announced later by the Harrell and Brown Funeral home.

AS A CEREAL

OR IN COOKING

it's FINE either way!

It's so handy to have a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a wholesome ingredient in your muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct common constipation, due to insufficient bulk in the diet. In severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN does not break down during digestion as does that of leafy vegetables, and is therefore more effective for furnishing the needed "bulk." It is a delicious laxative food . . . far better than patent medicines.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

AMBERS TALKS GREAT FIGHT

Lightweight Contender Tells How He'll Lick Ross

WONT STRIVE FOR KNOCKOUT

By HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 26.—(UP)—D'Ambrosio, who, as Lou Ambers, meets Barney Ross for the lightweight championship in June, paid us a visit today and, without even removing his polo coat, fought the entire 15 rounds in advance.

His preview of the battle was made more remarkable by the fact that he fought it while sitting in a swivel chair with his legs crossed. Not once during the whole fight did Ross hit him hard enough to turn him around. Nor could Barney, despite a game rally in the eleventh, manage to muss Lou's hair, take the shine off his shoes, or unbutton his vest.

At the finish Lou still was a fashion plate, while poor Ross, his title gone, was plump tickered out. "I thought you had him in the ninth, Lou," I said after it was all over.

"So did I," he answered. "That was a sweetheart of a right I caught him with. He can take it, all right. But he was awful tired at the finish. Another round and I'da had him."

"Did he hurt you at all?" I asked. "Naw. He's fancy, but he can't hit. Especially when he's crowded like I crowded him."

This preview of the title shot was no joke with Ambers. He's fought it a thousand times by himself since the match was made, and swears he will be able to call his shots against Ross.

GROVE SHOWS OLD SKILL IN RED SOX CAMP

BY STUART CAMERON
(United Press Sports Editor)

SARASOTA, Fla., March 26.—The science of medicine may accomplish what the Yawkey bankroll failed to do and give Boston another baseball champion. The Red Sox roster reads more like a set of nurse's charts than a listing of pitchers, catchers and fielders. But the news is good, for not only were the operations successful, but the patients have recovered.

A good starting place on the tour of Boston's graduate sick bay is at the cat vacated by Robert Moses ("Lefty") Grove, moved by a good chunk of Tom Yawkey's millions from the Philadelphia Athletics. All Yawkey did when he made the purchase prior to the start of the 1934 season was to gain possession of the greatest American league pitcher of the preceding season. But Grove failed miserably—failed because infected tonsils threw his whole body out of gear. There was an operation. Grove responded nobly. Now he's pegging them with the skill of 1931 and 1932. Manager Joe Cronin counts on "Lefty" to win 18 games, and adds Mr. Cronin, "If he does, we have a real chance for the pennant."

Another hospital grad is George Pigeas. An elbow which was injured in the 1935 season bothered him so much he retired during the 1934 campaign. Surgeons have worked on the elbow. It's all right and so is his right-handed pitching.

Henry Johnson, another right-handed pitcher, had a similar elbow ailment. He also was operated upon. He's changed his delivery so that he now whips them with a sidearm delivery and has looked good in practice.

There's one more: Max Bishop. He had an internal disorder which marred his play. Treatments in a Baltimore hospital righted him, and now the expected problem of covering second base has been erased.

LOU'S COLLEGIATE

Lou Gehrig went bare-headed until his bride made him don a skimmer last summer. . . . He never had an overcoat until he purchased one in Paris last winter. . . . Huge Walter Brown lost his hook when up with the Yankees early last season. . . . "I know what's wrong with you," said Lazzeri. "Your fingers are on the seams when you lift your hands above your head, but slip off when you bring your hands down." . . . Lazzeri observed all this from second base. . . . "Red" Rolfe keeps a record of what pitchers throw him and where batters hit the ball.

"Red" Ruffing bowls on star teams at Nokomis, Ill., which also is Jim Bottomley's old home town. Vito Tamulis sounds like a fair tonic, but he is a squatty southpaw who scored a hit with Joe McCarthy in blanking the A's with two bingles last fall. . . . Russell Van Atta was a classmate of Steve Hamas at Penn State. . . . This left-hander injured the middle finger of his pitching hand first through a window in rescuing his dog as his home burned at Franklin, N. J. . . . His ineffectiveness in 1934 was attributed to the injury, but Van Atta believes he again has full use of the hand. . . . Johnny Allen first practiced pitching in the rear of a hotel in a small North Carolina town, where he acted as clerk.

CARDS BEAT MARINES

SAN DIEGO, March 26.—(UP)—Stanford university's baseball team defeated the San Diego Marines, 4 to 2, in a game here yesterday. "Bones" Hamilton started the victory with a home run in the second. Three runs in the sixth clinched the verdict.

BASEBALL NEEDS MORE "HOLLER GUYS"

These three National leaguers have the reputation of being the greatest "jockeys" in the majors. Left is "Blondy" Ryan, Phillies' shortstop; center, Dick Bartell, whose shortstopping may be just what the Giants need to raise the National league pennant in the Polo grounds; and right, Leo Durocher, Cardinals' shortstop whose cocky attitude has earned him the nicknames "Mouthy" and "Lippy."

BY JIMMIE BONAHOUE
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, March 26.—Back in 1908 it was a "holler guy" who won the pennant for the Chicago Cubs. Little Johnny Evers, the second baseman, was the fellow. He talked Umpire Hank O'Day into rendering a decision that Fred Merkle, for failing to touch second after knocking in what apparently with the winning Giant run, was out, and that the game which would have decided the National league championship would have to be played over.

Mordecai Brown bested Christy Mathewson in the playoff, the Cubs won the gonfalon, and took Detroit in the world series. He followed—all because Evers had what it took to stand out there on second base and beller that Merkle was out.

The "holler guys," as the trade knows 'em, still are winning pennants in the majors. They are the cocky, militant sort of players who, on the slightest provocation, beef about umpires' decisions, pester opposing pitchers and players, carry a clip on their shoulders, and generally make themselves obnoxious while playing a bangup game of ball.

COULDN'T BEAT "BLONDY"

In 1933 one of these fellows helped the Giants win the National league pennant and the winner's share of the world series dough. He was Jockey "Blondy" Ryan, shortstop, whose classic "They can't beat us, Bill," slogan, and everyday chatter and aggressiveness in the infield, was the old pepper needed to clinch the honors for Bill Terry's outfit.

DEMONSTRATION IN DERBY AT MEADOWS

SAN MATEO, March 26.—(UP)—Mrs. Silas B. Mason, Eastern sportswoman, aimed at a double stakes victory at the Bay Meadows spring meeting today by nominating her crack three-year-old Demonstration, which placed third in the same Santa Anita derby, from the same stable which houses Head Play, winner of the $25,000 Bay Meadows Handicap last Saturday.

The Mason three-year-old will find his toughest competition from L. W. Kidd's Kent and the Meadowbrook stables' Bon Amour. Other horses named for the one and one-eighth mile gallop included Toro Flight, Happy Helen, High Man, Carmunchita, Barcelona, Polar Flight, Supreme Court, Nubs, Melody Lane and O'Ruley.

A new scale of admission prices became effective with yesterday's program. General admission was 40 cents and clubhouse privileges $1, representing reduction of 60 cents and 50 cents respectively. Directors of the California Jockey club, operating the track compromised with the state racing commission by abandoning plans for a free gate and instituting the lower scale.

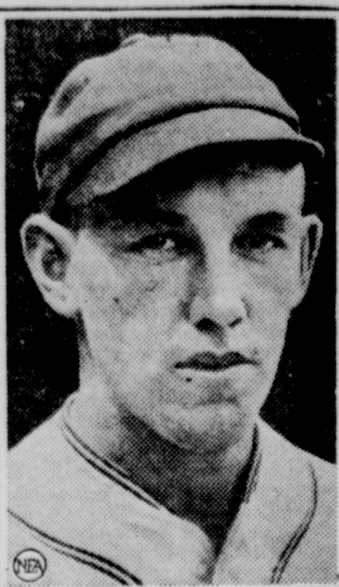

COUGAR TRACKSTERS TO INVADE BERKELEY

BERKELEY, March 26.—With a team of outstanding track and field performers which figures to take the Northern division conference title for the fourth consecutive year, Washington State's cougar squad invades Berkeley Saturday for its first dual meet with the University of California.

Headliner of the Cougar squad is George Theodoratos, a big man who is going to have three busy days next week. The 240-pound Greek from Sacramento will compete in the heavyweight division of the Intercollegiate boxing tournament Thursday and Friday nights, arriving in Berkeley Saturday to hurl the discus and put the shot.

RAOUL WALSH ASKS RACE TRACK PERMIT

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—(UP)—A syndicate, headed by Raoul Walsh, motion picture director, today filed application with the California horse racing board for a permit to build a track between Los Angeles and the beaches.

Blondy Ryan

Dick Bartell

Leo Durocher

to the standards set by Ryan, Terry's team is due to terrorize the turnip thumpers again.

SIMON LEGREE—PHOOEY!

Bartell is just about the cockiest, devil-take-the-hindmost cuss that ever eluded second with his spikes in battle array. Twice last year he brought on near riots when he slashed Linus Frey and Joe Judge, Brooklyn players, with his steel.

A vituperative gent, in these kicking at everything and riding opposing players unmercifully, Bartell is one of the greatest little goat-getters in the game, and a distinct psychological advantage to have on your side of the fence.

In the American league, the "holler guys" aren't so plentiful. Probably the outstanding one is another shortstop—Joe Cronin.

Although he doesn't go out of his way to antagonize opposing players, the Mick isn't one to be shoved around. Always ready to argue with an umpire at the drop of a hat, he also is watchful of his men's welfare on the field, and you'll always find him sticking that lantern jaw of his into any mess his boys start.

He won a pennant for Washington in 1933 with his never-say-die attitude. He might have repeated last season had not everything from myopia to spavins attacked his athletes at the capital.

If Cronin can steer the banshees clear of his trail in Beantown—and those Boston Irish brew power-ful potions to guard against the evil spirits—he again may win that chin home in front in the American league race.

Jail Princeton Grigger as Campus Thief

PRINCETON, N. J., March 26.—(UP)—A Princeton football star was held as a campus thief today, his college career ended summarily only a few months before he was to receive a degree.

The accused was Frank John, varsity guard for two years, who was majoring in philosophy, presumably with a view to entering the ministry. He and another youth, Winthrop Partello, were accused of looting Princeton dormitories of more than $2000 worth of jewelry and clothing. Partello is not connected with the university.

John, a native of Pittstown, Pa., was arrested last night and taken to state police barracks at Wilburton, N. J., 10 miles from here. Preliminary hearing was set for Wednesday.

New York police previously had arrested Partello. He confessed looting dormitories and named John as his accomplice. New York police said Partello was arraigned in general sessions and was brought to Princeton when he waived extradition.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

FRESNO—Humiliated by an 8-1 defeat Monday, Manager Frank O'Doul sent his San Francisco Seals out to obtain revenge from the Tokyo Giants today. The game will conclude the series with the touring Japanese.

MARYSVILLE—With the opening of the season approaching faster than the wind, the fourth Pacific Coast league team to defeat the Cubs within a week when they won, 3 to 2, yesterday.

SANTA MONICA—The Los Angeles Angels were given an all-around workout here today in preparation for their game with the Seattle Indians tomorrow.

VENTURA—The Portland Beavers were packing up today to go to Los Angeles where they will meet the Chicago Cubs in two exhibition games tomorrow and Thursday at Wrigley field.

FULLERTON—Manager Frank Shellenback of the Hollywood Sheiks took his first workout on the mound yesterday when the regulars took a practice game from the Yannisians, 9 to 6.

SAN BERNARDINO—The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago White Sox took the road again today in their transcontinental tour of exhibition games which will carry them through Arizona and Texas.

THEODORATOS, GRID STAR, TO BE PRO BOXER

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—(UP)—George Theodoratos, husky Washington State grid star and amateur boxer, plans to turn professional next summer and go out after Max Baer's heavyweight championship crown.

The big Greek has trimmed down to 226 pounds since football season, when his 247 pounds made him a menace, and will reduce to 215 when he "takes up training seriously."

Theodoratos' desire to move into the money in professional ranks was disclosed as he trained here for the Pacific Coast intercollegiate boxing matches Thursday and Friday.

"I would like to try out for the Olympic Games next year," he said, "but I don't think I will. I'm getting older and I believe I can win the world's heavyweight championship, so I must start right in."

Jim London, wrestler, tried to persuade Theodoratos to enter professional wrestling but the Washington State star said he wasn't interested.

"I can turn to wrestling if I find I can't fight," he said. Theodoratos and six other Green athletes will sail for Greece July 1 for a series of exhibitions there and elsewhere in Europe. Upon his return, he will look over the field of legitimate fight managers and begin a professional career, he said.

HOLD FUNERAL RITES FOR TROJAN GRIGGER

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—(UP)—Funeral services for Russell Powers, University of Southern California football player killed Sunday in a traffic accident, were held here today. The body will be taken to Cleveland for burial.

There were still lots of money. The total receipts were 2,824,925 pounds ($15,510,209) and prize money totals 1,680,979 pounds ($8,039,232).

Prize money is divided into 16 units of $478,250 each. In each unit there will be a first prize of $143,475, a second prize of $71,737 and a third prize of $47,825.

These prizes will go to those who draw, in each unit, names of the horses which finish, first, second and third in the Grand National.

Saint Track Dates Fixed For Season

Dates for the remaining meets on Santa Ana high school's track and field schedule were fixed today.

The first of three Coast league dual meets will be held on the Poly field oval Friday afternoon. Long Beach Poly will be the opposition, and for the first time in years Santa Ana has a chance to win.

A postponed meet at San Diego follows April 6. The Santa Ana-Pasadena clash, scheduled here, will be held the following Wednesday or Thursday if at all. Coach Reese Greene says the Saints will forfeit to Pasadena rather than pass up the annual Chaffey invitational at Ontario April 13. So far, Pasadena has been adamant over the proposed change in dates.

After the Chaffey meet, Santa Ana will have a week's bye to prepare for the all-league preliminaries at Glendale April 27. The finals are booked May 4, the Southern California divisional trials at Occidental May 11, the finals at the Los Angeles Coliseum May 18, and the State meet at Fresno the night of May 25.

Fullerton's crack team, representing Ralph's Shirt shop, collides with the United Presbyterians of the Santa Ana Church league in a Division A game at 7:30, and a Division B contest will follow between the First Christians and South Methodists.

Wednesday's schedule will bring out even more talent, with Garlocke Service and the Mormons tugging in Division A at 7:30, and Leaven's Service clashing with the Costa Mesa Pay-n-Takit team an hour later.

Fullerton is believed to possess more all-around strength than the Presbyterians, and should win unless Erwin Foltz of the Church outfit goes on a scoring spree similar to that last week when the Presbyterians turned back Costa Mesa, 54-32. Forward Foltz is tied for high-scoring honors in the tournament with Ernie Acker of Garlocke's team with 19 points.

Glen and Percy Fullerton, ex-Missouri high school stars; Jack McManus, flashy redhead from Detroit; Doug Wheeler, all-around athletic ace at Fullerton Jaycee for the past two years, and Ray Montgomery are probable starters for Ralph's Shirts in the feature. The Presbyterians will use the heady Foltz and "Buck" White at forward, Vince McDonald at center, Lyle Christianson and Bill Leonard at guard.

Bill Kolkostr and "Cotton" Bennett, forwards; Larry Leichtfuss, center; Everett Conkright and Vernon Valentine, guards, will be in a Christian lineup opposing Chet Siegel and Ray Clark, forwards; Palmer Stoddard, center; Mel Wiseman and Cecil Slaback, guards, for the Methodists.

'So What,' Says Holder of Sweeps Ticket

NEW YORK, March 26.—(UP)—An excited bearer of good tidings rushed into the plat of Mrs. J. Thomas Roszki today and blurted out that the $2.60 sweepstakes ticket held by her unemployed husband had drawn Thomond II, a 13 to 2 favorite, and was worth $3800.

"So what?" said Mrs. Roszki at the door of her fifth-floor, walk-up apartment. "We've got more than that in the bank now. We'll have $3800 more so what does it matter. My husband has been out of work six years but we get along. We know how to save our money. We do not spend it like fools. That is why $3800 doesn't make so much difference."

Mrs. Roszki showed only casual interest in the possibility the ticket might be worth $148,000 if Thomond wins.

TOURNAMENTS QUARTER-FINAL GAMES BOOKED

Quarter-finals of Santa Ana's eight-team invitational basketball tournament will be conducted on the Y.M.C.A. floor tonight and tomorrow.

Fullerton's crack team, representing Ralph's Shirt shop, collides with the United Presbyterians of the Santa Ana Church league in a Division A game at 7:30, and a Division B contest will follow between the First Christians and South Methodists.

CHICAGO, March 26.—(UP)—Clinton Riley, former managing editor of the San Francisco Examiner and Chicago Inter-Ocean and dean of American turf handicappers, died yesterday. He was 57.

Riley was editor of the Chicago Racing Form from 1934 until a year ago, when he retired because of failing health.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

- News Behind the News -

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallen

LOVE'S LABOR
Secretary Hull wrote a formal letter to Herr Hitler a few days back, but you never will see it. He composed it in the form of an official note, but decided not to send it.

The note expressed regret at Hitler's latest violation of the sanctity of treaties, especially the separate American treaty of peace, which included the military clauses of the Versailles pact.

The story being told on the inside is that President Roosevelt ordered it held up. He did not want to make any move which would embroil him in the latest European fiasco. Mr. Hull's associates fondled the idea of sending it later, after things calmed down. But when the furore tore up similar protests from the French and Italians, they decided to save him the trouble of tearing up this one.

SOUND OFF

A better way of communicating Mr. Hull's exasperation to Herr Hitler was worked out slyly. The state secretary decided to express himself off-the-record at one of his press conferences. These conferences are attended by all foreign press representatives who want to attend. No doubt Hitler now has a transcript of Hull's remarks, although they cannot be repeated out loud.

All that can be said is that Mr. Hull's manner was extremely diplomatic, painfully so. The only thing he permitted the newsmen to publish about it was that this government considered Hitler's action as a threat to the entire peace structure of the world. That, of course, is the mildest possible version.

The diplomats thought that this off-the-record sound-off was rather neat. It avoided diplomatic embroilments. It prevented Hitler from snubbing Hull as he did the French and Italians.

HOOVER

The private Republican reaction here to the new Hoover reorganization program certainly was not encouraging to Mr. Hoover. A few here praised it faintly, but most Republicans in congress just remained wearily silent.

It is increasingly apparent that if Hoover is going to assume the leadership of the party, he will have to do it without much help from Washington.

There has been more inside talk lately among them about letting Mr. Hoover have the next Republican presidential nomination, but not in any encouraging way. Most of them do not yet know what they want to do.

POUR

The only Hoover dig which penetrated the skins of the New Dealers deeply was the one about foreign farm products pouring in while the AAA is holding down domestic production.

The situation behind that is: Foreign farm importations have been running about twice as large as last year. The March figures to be published soon will show two and one-half to three times as much as March last year.

If you dig into the last official figures, you will find that the quantity of farm imports in February last year was about fifteen million units and this year thirty-seven. The value jumped from $3,000,000 to $10,000,000. However, value is not a good barometer, because prices are much higher.

The New Dealers contend these importations are mere seepage, and the ultimate question to be settled by debate between them and Mr. Hoover is how many drips make a pouring.

COUNT

To afford an idea of which farm imports are increasing and how much, the following official round figures for February may be cited, showing increases over the same month of the previous year:

Butter, three million pounds, or five times as much as in February, 1934; live cattle, 38,000 head, six times as much; pork, 168,000 pounds, or thirty-four times as much; canned meats, four million pounds, three times as much; corn, 1.8 million bushels, or 121 times as much; wheat, one million bushels, twenty-eight times as much.

WORDS

The trick in the Hoover statement was in its wording. His exact words were: "Because of food destruction and restraint on farm production, foreign food is pouring into our ports, purchase of which should have been made from our farmers."

No one can deny the food was destroyed. Mr. Hoover's implication was that the New Dealers are responsible. The New Dealers say it was the drought.

ESCAPES

The truth is the AAA curtailment program has been curtailed so much that little of it remains. The AAA-ers are more or less openly getting out from under the policy.

The latest step in that direction lifted the ban on spring wheat. The reason for it was the dust storm and drought prospects in the western part of the winter wheat belt, as stated.

The corn-hog program already has been modified to call for a 10 per cent reduction in acreage instead of 20 per cent.

HOCUS

The strangest phase of the new wheat program is that the AAA will pay the farmers exactly the same amount for growing wheat this year as it paid last year for not growing it. The explanation is that the wheat program was a two-year proposition. The farmers agreed to cut acreage for two years by whatever amount the AAA designated. The fact that no amount was designated this year makes no difference in the contract.

FOCUS

Clarence Darrow was chatting with some New Dealers the other night. In the party were some AAA-ers and some dog fanciers. Darrow told this yarn for the benefit of both:

"You can tell who a dog's owner is by the characteristics of the dog."

I went hunting once with three bird dogs, one a merchant's, one a banker's, one a farmer's dog.

"The merchant's dog got right down to business and sighted the bird each time so I could shoot. The banker's dog then ran ahead and devoured it. But the farmer's dog just sat back on its haunches and howled!"

NEW YORK
By James McKullin

STRAIN
Bankers learn that France made informal the vigorous effort to get the United States to commit itself to stabilize the dollar before the Franco-Belgian conference last week. The French especially wanted a definite promise that there would be no further devaluation. They were gently but firmly told that—although devaluation is not in immediate prospect—we certainly had no intention of sewing ourselves up with pledges for the future.

New York experts look for a rise in the price of gold—especially in terms of sterling—as a result of Europe's feverish military preparations. They also predict that arms expenditures will force the already topheavy budgets of several European nations to do a humpty-dumpty and add to the general chaos.

This means a heavy strain on our stabilization fund to keep the dollar from kiting through the roto—unless we are willing to take drastic monetary measures. The fund can operate effectively only by buying foreign currencies—which may turn out at any time to be worth as much as a last year's banana peel.

CURTAIN

The best posted New Yorkers decline to get excited about the imminent prospect of war. They figure that Hitler's dramatic gesture was forced by economic pressure and internal unrest—and that his professions of peaceful intentions are undoubtedly true for the present. "He can't afford to start anything now. Germany is in no position yet to tackle most of Europe. A losing war would cost Hitler his job—and maybe his neck—and nobody knows it any better than he."

The informed also prophesy that potential belligerents will become very cautious about rocking the boat once they discover that Uncle Sam has no intention of playing banker for another slaying spree. They expect unofficial scouting expeditions to sound us out along this line soon. You can safely bet that the scouts will find both Washington and New York as cordial as a pair of icebergs.

It's also a cinch that France will allow no serious drain on her gold resources. She wants them for a war chest—and will declare an embargo if necessary to protect them. If that happens it's the gold bloc's final curtain.

CORRECTIVES

Utility leaders are annoyed to learn that various financial interests are already figuring on picking up their choicest properties for a song if the holding company bill goes through and forced liquidation is necessary.

They also see red at the suggestion that they hand over their operating properties to their stockholders and call it quits. "Those birds in Washington seem to forget we have bonds and preferred stock outstanding. We would have to sell our best assets for whatever we could get—which would mean about five cents on the dollar—to meet these obligations. All we'd have left to divide among the common stockholders would be a whale of a headache."

The intimation that holding companies which can prove they perform a useful economic function will be allowed to survive is no consolation. "We would have no assurance against dissolution. We wouldn't be able to raise money or carry on any other normal activity. If they would only turn it around and say we could continue to exist unless we were guilty of bad practices, we wouldn't have a thing to worry about and the corrective objectives would all be obtained."

THREAT

Power people have a nervous eye on Public Utilities Securities Corp. The RFC has taken over control of the board of directors—as a result of a loan defaulted by Dawes' Central Republic bank—and the boys want to know what next.

The city of St. Louis wants to buy the Laclede Gas Co.—one of this group's subsidiaries for a municipal plant. The RFC is said to be responsive. The idea that existing properties may be dismantled on order of federal authorities to make a public ownership holiday is the unkindest threat of all.

FERTILE

A New Yorker who has just visited the Middle West reports profound popular dissatisfaction with state governments. Many people feel that the politicians are making hay out of the situation for their own advantage. The irritation is non-partisan and makes no distinction between Democrats and Republicans. He also found a growing doubt among depression victims as to whether the federal government can do anything for them. The general attitude is one of boredom and resentment.

This observer also noted the poor average of clothing worn—especially by men and children. The

FOSTER PLANS COMPLETED BY LEGION GROUP

FULLERTON, March 26.—Members of Fullerton American Legion auxiliary No. 142 last night enjoyed a combined business and social meeting as guests of Mrs. Leo C. Burdick at her home at 118 North Yale avenue, where plans for the poppy poster display were announced.

More than 80 posters will be on display April 8 to 11 in the gallery of the high school, Mrs. Burdick reported.

Owing to the over-crowded condition of the library Miss Gertrude DeGelder, librarian, sent to the auxiliary more than 100 used and worn books, to be given to the tuberculosis camp for war veterans at Yucca valley.

The auxiliary lacks but two of its membership quota. Mrs. Bert Swain reported. Mrs. Ernest Kirby reported on the welfare work and the distribution of milk to needy people.

Mrs. Robert E. Corcoran Jr., president, called an executive meeting at her home on Garden Grove road for Friday at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Marjorie Peabody, La Habra, 21st district vice president, and Mrs. J. M. Pearson, president of the Fullerton Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, attended the meeting. Others attending were Mrs. Albert Callaud, Mrs. Oscar Schneider, Mrs. Ernest Kirby, Mrs. Gordon Handfield, Mrs. Albert Foster, Mrs. Bert Swain, Mrs. G. W. Sherwood, Mrs. Ray Carr Green, Mrs. R. E. Corcoran Jr. (president), Mrs. George Willets, Mrs. Esie Fairburn, Mrs. Dave Braun, Mrs. H. C. Askey, Mrs. Harley Brewer, Mrs. A. J. Gottlieb, Mrs. George Askey, Mrs. H. J. Gier, and the hostess. Pearson.

REVEAL FURTHER
LOSS TO DENTISTS

ANAHEIM, March 26.—Further check by police yesterday revealed that the "pass key" burglar who looted several dental offices in the Bank of America building during the week and secured loot valued at more than $100. They also discovered an additional robbery in that of the office of Dr. Sarah Fay Pearson. Dr. Pearson discovered late yesterday that her office had been looted, the thief securing a ring and a small amount of cash.

According to police, Dr. W. V. Falls was the heaviest loser, the thief securing gold foil, scraps and inlays valued at $37.50. The Anaheim Dental Laboratory lost gold fillings valued at $5, a gold scale valued at $5 and a gold ring with a zircon stone worth $25. Dr. C. P. Tompkins lost one gold inlay valued at $1 and a small amount of cash.

ASK ROTARIANS TO BACK TAX BOOST

ANAHEIM, March 26.—Support of Rotarians for the proposal to allow a 20 per cent increase in the school maintenance tax was sought yesterday by Superintendent M. A. Gauer in a talk before the clubmen. The proposal appears on the ballot for the school election scheduled for March 29.

In his talk Gauer explained the need for the increase in the maintenance fund and said that it would bring the entire school tax for next year only five cents higher than this year because of decreases in the bonded indebtedness. Gauer said that the increase in maintenance tax is necessary because the decrease in enrollments which cuts down the amount of funds received from the state. Another factor in making necessary the tax increase is the drop in assessed valuation.

He pointed out that school costs cannot be reduced further without impairing the efficiency of the educational system.

VETERAN GROUP PICKS SLATE FOR ELECTION

A meeting of Santa Ana members of the Orange County Veterans for California, last night pledged support for re-election of the four incumbent city councilmen who seek it, and for three of the four incumbent school trustees who are seeking re-election.

A full slate for the board of education adopted by the 75 veterans at the meeting in Veterans hall, it was announced by Jules Markel, included Chairman George Wells, Marion B. Youel and Rolla R. Hays, of the present board, and Ridley C. Smith and Mrs. Florence Flavan, new candidates. Dr. Margaret Baker is the only other incumbent seeking re-election, W. M. Burke, of the present board, not being a candidate.

The council slate approved by the meeting included only the four incumbent candidates, Fred Rowland, Plummer Bruns, William Penn and Joseph P. Smith. No recommendation was made for the fifth seat on the council, which will be made vacant by retirement of Mayor E. G. Warner, who is a candidate for chief of police.

According to Markel, secretary of the group, who announced the endorsement of the meeting passed a resolution of endorsement and the various veterans present agreed to contact voters and work actively for their candidates on election day.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, March 26. — Mrs. Lula Wakefield, of Santa Ana, visited her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Orion Behrmeyer, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. King, of Midway City, have moved from Ed. L. Hensley's real estate office at Midway City to his office at New Westminster and are occupying the living quarters connected with it.

Politically Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 25. —(UP)—Two important developments in two weeks constituted major accomplishments of California's legislature as members maneuvered behind bills which must be handled this session if the state's economic and social problems are to be solved.

The lawmakers got underway with customary slowness, the only differences between this and previous sessions being the wide variety of off-stage activities, the evidence of strong partisan feeling and the general belief that "big things" will happen when the houses finally settle down to intensive work.

Dodging of issues has been a favorite pastime thus far, with committees postponing action on controversial bills and administration forces conducting corridor and hotel room drives to whip members into line.

"It's always that way," Senator Charles H. Deuel remarked in discussing the lack of important early legislation. "They putter along for weeks, then pour everything in at the last minute and work day and night to accomplish something."

It would appear that the constitutional recess, taken in February, has become a mere formality. Fundamental purpose of the recess is to give legislators a chance to study bills introduced during January, and to obtain the reaction of their constituents.

Except for some of the more outstanding measures, few legislators gave attention to bills during the recess.

Nearly every time a measure was brought up for consideration by committee or on the floor of either house, some member would say: "I should like time to study this to see what we're voting on." And the measure would be put over.

Adoption of an emergency act permitting the governor to transfer money from special funds to the unemployment relief commission was the only final accomplishment during the first two weeks.

Committees passed out numerous bills, but no assembly or senate vote was taken on any of the controversial items.

Democrats and progressive Republicans have continued their efforts to agree on a taxation program which may be submitted as a substitute for Governor Frank P. Merriam's plans.

They are interested particularly in higher revenue from a proposed state income tax and elimination of the consumers' and nuisance taxes recommended by the governor.

Considerable interest has developed in a movement to establish a one-house legislature of 30 or 40 members to supplant the present bicameral system.

lish a one-house legislature of 30 or 40 members to supplant the present bicameral system.

Numerous legislators are in favor of such a plan, which of necessity would be submitted to the electorate, possibly in 1936.

The plan, as advocated by leaders of labor, farm and progressive groups would provide salaries of $5,000 or $6,000 to justify the legislators devoting their entire time to lawmaking problems. The present legislature of 80 assemblymen and 40 senators draws pay at the rate of $1200 a year per member.

Another important change which would be observed under the proposed unicameral system would keep members in session annually for eight or ten months. The legislature now meets biennially for periods of approximately four months.

Some of the veteran legislators believed a one-house system inevitable and would result in "better legislators and better-considered legislation."

Nebraska is experimenting with a unicameral legislature this year.

Stories in STAMPS

IN MEMORY OF MILLIMETERNICH

AUSTRIA'S recent issue of a 24-groschen stamp with a wreath of mourning around a portrait of the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss recalls a hectic two years while this small, but stout-hearted statesman was leader of that country. From May, 1932, until his assassination in July, 1934, Dollfuss was the target of several attempts at his life. Yet this man, who was called the "Millimeternich of Vienna," continued to defy Nazi attempts to gain control of the government and ally it with Germany, in trade at least.

LEGISLATIVE SIDELIGHTS

By United Press

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 25. —(UP)—Senators who voted in favor of the Townsend resolution spent much of their time afterward explaining their attitude.

Popular John B. McCall took a large amount of good natured ribbing during the following day. The resolution renamed him "John Townsend McCall." It was sent to the committee on fish and game.

During a discussion of the merits of a bill which would prohibit use of berry boxes with false bottoms, Senator Scollan asked Senator Perry which type his wife would buy if she went to market. He answered his own question by saying, "She would take that one," indicating the larger box with the false bottom. "That won't work more than once," Perry answered.

While Speaker Edward Craig and Assemblyman Charles Lyon, are both administration leaders, Craig does not hesitate to crack down on Lyon if the occasion arises. During one debate over technical procedure the speaker pointedly remarked to Lyon that "if you didn't have the political sagacity to see the trap I'm sure that I, as speaker, couldn't call it to your attention." On another occasion Craig suggested, very kindly, that Lyon "quit bragging."

A few votes sometimes makes a bit of difference. It so happens that one of the relief elevator operators at the capitol was defeated by a margin of only a few votes in his race for the assembly. Now he has to take orders from his former opponent.

DEDICATION TO CONTEST FOR HONOR PIONEER CARRIER BOYS WOMEN IS HELD MAKING RECORD

Paying tribute to the memory of pioneer mothers of California, the Native Daughters of the Golden West, Santa Ana chapter, dedicated a native sycamore tree in the Bowers Memorial Museum grounds at Twentieth and Main streets yesterday afternoon in an impressive ceremony.

A year ago the Native Daughters planted the tree at the museum with appropriate ceremonies. A year later, yesterday afternoon, a granite marker was placed at the foot of the tree which symbolizes the courage and devotion of the pioneer mothers who helped build the West in the days when hardship was the rule and not the exception.

A picture of a covered wagon with the date 1848 is at the top of the stone marker, while below is an inscription which honors the memory of the pioneer mothers.

Many notables took part in the dedication ceremonies, including Mrs. Gladys Noce, of San Francisco, who is the grand president of the Native Daughters of the Golden West. In a brief but colorful talk, Mrs. Noce declared that dedication of a tree is a most fitting tribute to the courage of the pioneer women who made their homes in the West in the early days, lending the encouragement and support to their men. Mrs. Noce was accompanied here by Mrs. Nellie Cline, of Placentia, who is a grand trustee.

Mrs. Matilda Lemon, chairman of the historical and landmarks committee of the Santa Ana chapter, was in charge of the dedication. She was introduced by Mrs. Ruth Kotlar, president of Santa Ana chapter.

Others who took part in the exercises included Mayor E. G. Warner, T. E. Stephenson, president of the Orange County Historical Society; Walter Gisler, president of the Santa Ana chapter of Native Sons; Mrs. Walter E. Hiskey and Mrs. Mae West, past presidents of the local Daughters; Raymond Marcel and Ivan Harper, past presidents of the Native Sons of Santa Ana.

A banquet meeting at the Green Cat cafe in the evening concluded the program for the day.

TAKE PART IN DEDICATION

Dedicating a native sycamore tree to the memory of pioneer mothers of California, the group below took part in the ceremonies yesterday afternoon at the Bowers Memorial Museum. Left to right is Mrs. Walter E. Hiskey, past president of the Native Daughters of Santa Ana; Ivan Harper, past president of the Native Sons; Mrs. Matilda Lemon, historical and landmarks chairman; Walter Gisler, president of the Orange County Historical Society; Mrs. Nellie Cline, grand trustee of the Daughters; Raymond Marcel, past president of the Sons; Mrs. Ruth Kotlar, president of the Santa Ana Daughters; Mrs. Mae West, past president of the local Daughters, and Mayor E. ## COMMITTEEMEN FOR CHAMBER NAMED AT MEET

Appointment of chairmen of committees who will direct the activities of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce throughout the coming ensuing fiscal year was announced by President W. H. Spurgeon at a meeting of the board of directors yesterday afternoon in James' cafe.

This year a new policy has been established in regard to committees. The former larger number of committees has been reduced and each director of the chamber has been named to head one or more committees in chamber activities.

Committeemen named were as follows: retail, Wilbur Barr; legislative, J. N. Harding; finance and budget, W. H. Spurgeon; publicity, promotion and conventions, Walter Swanberger; recreation and playgrounds, F. A. Henderson; relations between business and county supervisors, W. E. Baker; relations between business and city council, Herbert Miller; industrial and aviation, Don Jerome; fire prevention and safety, Harry Hanson; taxation, Herbert Rankin; water conservation and flood control, Alex. Brownridge; inter-community relations, Bob Fernandez; agricultural and horticultural, W. D. Ranney; community council, Ellis Diehl; unassigned, Rex Kennedy.

The directors passed a motion endorsing the work of the Retail Division of the chamber of commerce in furthering the activities of the Federal Housing Act program in Orange county.

Director Baker reported progress on plans to stop solicitation by questionable organizations and on a program whereby Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties would join in entering an exhibit in the San Diego exposition. Baker said the plan is to have each of the counties bear an equal share of the expense, which would amount to $10,000.

The directors yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution on request of the Orange County Coast association protesting against the practice of lamere and purse seine fishing. It was stated by Secretary Howard I. Wood that this practice is rapidly resulting in the decrease of game and commercial fish in Southern California waters.

A general membership meeting of the chamber of commerce will be held next Monday noon.

Dates Set For Laguna Garden Show

Seventh Annual Flower Show staged by the Laguna Beach Garden club will be given this year on April 5 and 6, it was announced today.

The exhibitions will be held, as has been customary, at the Laguna Beach hotel where the attractive patio and the spacious rooms afford an appropriate background for the colorful floral exhibits that have made the yearly events popular. It was announced.

Laguna Beach has many extremely beautiful homes, and members of the garden club are all garden enthusiasts with many experts among the membership who produce and exhibit specimens of floral achievements that attract appreciative crowds from many points far away.

Professional as well as amateur horticulturalists will compete for honors in many classes of exhibits. Garden sections from women's clubs are planning to attend the show and lunch or dine at Laguna Beach.

Many distinguished guests will be entertained during the exhibition, as Laguna has a movie as well as an art colony, and dinner and luncheon parties are scheduled to take place at the hotel.

The flower show will open on Friday, April 5, at 2 p. m. and remain open until 10 p. m. On Saturday it will open at 10 a. m. and close at 9 p. m.

INDIAN RELICS ON DISPLAY IN STORE WINDOW

An interesting collection of Indian relics, some of them representing the second culture which occupied the camps of Orange county more than 1000 years ago, is being displayed in the windows of the Santa Ana Book store, 208 West Fourth street.

The Indian artifacts, owned by H. F. Strandt of Anaheim, are being shown under the auspices of the Orange County SERRA Historical research department.

Included in the display, which is comprised mainly of relics discovered in California and Arizona, are numerous arrow heads, spear joints, stone knives, axes, net sinkers, clay pipes, several kinds of beads, war clubs, cog wheels, cave baskets and mortars.

Strandt, an Anaheim contractor who has collected more than 2000 relics as a hobby, possesses an Indian cremation urn which was found to contain the remains of a male, along with numerous broken arrows, spear joints and other such artifacts. He also has on display two skulls—one of a Navajo found in Arizona, and the other of an Indian who lived on Santa Rosa island.

Four arrow points, stone knife, and some arrow-making material are among a group of relics which Strandt uncovered three feet below the surface near Costa Mesa in 1929.

Snails succumb quickly to tainted water, and for that reason are sometimes carried in dry countries to test widely scattered water holes before drinking from them.

ED L. VEGELY SEEKS RETURN AS CITY CLERK

Formal and public announcement of his candidacy for reelection as city clerk of Santa Ana in the April 4 election was made today by City Clerk Ed L. Vegely.

The announcement said that Vegely has given courteous, efficient and conscientious service to the citizens of Santa Ana for the past 20 years, and not a single criticism of his administration has been made by opposing candidates, it was said.

"There is no incentive to honest, efficient, and courteous public service such as Vegely has rendered, unless that service is adequately rewarded by continuing the man on the job," the statement in behalf of Vegely's candidacy read.

"Any private employer appreciates, and keeps, the services of the experienced man who has made good, for the knowledge gained in many years of service is invaluable to that employer. In this case, Santa Ana is the employer, each citizen is a stockholder, and it becomes the duty of all citizens with the interests of their municipal corporation at heart, to keep Vegely on the job."

"Vegely has served the community well and should be returned in the interests of all citizens and taxpayers. He has practiced all possible economy in view of the heavy and widely varied duties of the office, which now collects nearly $40,000 annually for city expenditures from business licenses alone."

"He handles all city election details, and all bond issues in cooperation with the City Attorney, with an unblemished record for accuracy, carefulness and fairness. If ever a conscientious and capable public official deserved reelection, Ed Vegely is that man, and we feel sure the fair-minded voters will show their appreciation of such splendid public service with an overwhelming vote for him at the coming city election on April 4."

It was pointed out that the city clerk's salary was $125 per month at the time of Vegely's first election to the job, then raised to $150, then further raised as the cost of living rapidly climbed and that a reduction of $50 per month is now being made for the new term, saving a total of $2400 during the ensuing four-year period.

Three-fourths of the total population increase in this country during the last decade occurred within 30 miles of our 95 cities with more than 100,000 population.

SESSION TO BE IN TEMPLE ON THURSDAY EVE

Called to discuss issues of the coming municipal election on April 4 and to inform voters of latest developments of the campaign, a mass meeting of taxpayers and workers will be held at the Temple theater, Third and Bush streets, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock under auspices of the Taxpayers League. It was announced today.

Facts of importance to all citizens will be brought out by various speakers. It was announced, and the Taxpayers' ticket for the council will be presented, together with an opportunity for the five candidates endorsed by the League to say a few words.

Tax economy is of vital importance to the United States at the present time. It was pointed out by representatives of the League, and it is important that all taxpayers inform themselves of the manner in which they can influence elimination of waste and reduction of the tax burden on their homes and business property.

"No one has a right to kick about high taxes unless they themselves work for an economical administration when they have the opportunity," A. G. Diehl, president of the League, declared.

TRAVEL TIPS

The "Dixie Special"

The Dixie Special is one of our most popular Spring travel features. This year the party will leave Los Angeles on the Sunset Limited Wednesday, April 24, connecting with the SP steamship Dixie at New Orleans April 27. Then five days at sea as the Dixie cruises through the Gulf of Mexico and up the Atlantic Coast to New York. Regular rail fare includes first class meals and berth on board the ship!

Chair Cars, Too!

We're not forgetting the comfort of any SP patrons! Our lowest fares to the Middle West and East are good in chair cars—and these cars, too, will be air-conditioned. Specially designed for Southern Pacific, with comfortable reclining chairs, rubber-tile floors, large Pullman type dressing rooms and cheerful interiors, these all-steel cars will provide greater comfort and speed than any other low cost transportation.

Tourist sleeping cars to the East will be air-conditioned, too. These provide many of the advantages of a standard Pullman at much lower cost.

Summer Fares Start May 15

Our drastically reduced Back East Excursion roundtrips will be in effect from May 15 to October 15 this year, final return limit October 31. First-class roundtrip to Chicago, for example, only $86.

Shower for One Bride Reveals Betrothal Of Another

Two interesting bridal events of the future were suggested in a pretty party of Saturday night when Mrs. R. B. Newcom, Miss Helen Grafton and Miss Nellie Grafton entertained in the Newcom home, 1932 West LaVeta street, Orange.

For while guests were invited in compliment to Miss Martha Adams, fiancée of William Grafton, brother of two of the hostesses group, they were also informed during the course of the evening, of the engagement of Miss Helen Grafton and Howard Hineman of General Grant National park.

Primarily, the party was to acquaint friends with the date chosen for the wedding of Miss Adams and William Grafton, May 18. This interesting news was conveyed by the tally cards distributed for bridge. Tables for the games were arranged in the big living room, and special scores made by Miss Dorothy Yungbluth and Al Fernandez were rewarded with prizes.

Invited into the adjoining sun room, guests surrounded Miss Adams as she examined shower gifts in handsome crystal to match her chosen pattern. This interval gave opportunity to the hostesses to re-arrange card tables for the serving of refreshments.

Each table expressed a distinctive pastel color with its flowers and daintily gowned bridesmaids guarding the nut cups. The table reserved for Miss Adams was all white, and its bride favors concealed the announcement to Mr. Hineman, which fitted into the romantic atmosphere of the evening.

Mrs. W. D. Grafton of Anaheim was in the receiving line with her daughters, the Misses Helen and Nellie Grafton, and Mrs. Newcom, as guests arrived.

The party included in addition Messrs. R. B. Newcom and W. D. Grafton, the honor guest, Miss Adams, her fiancée, William Grafton, the Misses Kathryn Adams, Beulah Hineman, Florence Backs, Marian Uiter, Jessie Johnston, Dorothy Yungbluth, Messrs. and Mesdames Kenneth Walker, Max Moody, Ewald Lemcke, Frederick Kaeding, Henry Adams, Anaheim; the Misses Louise Newcom, Ruth Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore and Ames Crawford, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Tucker, Gordon McComber, Buena Park; Al Fernandez, Santa Ana; Maurice Meyers, Downey; Arvid Murman, Bakersfield; Don Campbell, Ontario; and Howard Hineman and Gene Norris, General Grant National park.

Musicians Appear on Ebell Society Program

Added cause for Santa Ana's pride in its own musicians came last night with the presentation of a finished program by two Southern artists, Eleanor Woodford, dramatic soprano, and Clarence Gustlin, pianist-composer. This was an annual courtesy program which Ebell society gave in the clubhouse as a compliment to husbands and other guests.

Now of Los Angeles, where she has just concluded movie and operatic roles of prominence, Miss Woodford is claimed as a Santa Ana, since it was in this city that she really started her musical career by serving as soloist at First Presbyterian church several years ago.

Frances Brockett Kellogg was at the piano as a very capable accompanist for Miss Woodford. In her opening number, "Dawn" (Curran), her voice had the same freshness suggested by the lyric and music. Sweetness of tone characterized "Lilacs" (Rachmaninoff), "The Rosebud" (La Forge) and "The" (Schumann) offered opportunity for the volume and richness of voice which the singer attained in all her groups.

Clarence Gustlin chose for his first piano solo, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" (Bach-Hess), fascinating with its simplicity of theme and somewhat significant of man's religious desires. That trait so characteristic of the true musician, submergence of self in the music, was exemplified in this number. In his "Impromptu" the pianist executed difficult measures with beauty of touch and technique. He was at the piano as accompanist for Miss Woodford as she sang "Thou Art Like Unto a Flower," one of his own compositions.

In "Murmuring Zephyrs" (Jensen), Miss Woodford's voice took on a tender quality. "Romance" (Debussy), "Spirit Flower" (Campbell-Tipton), "Life and Death" (Coleridge-Taylor) followed. The last number's powerful rendition was so well received that the singer gave an encore, "Songs My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak). Strangely enough, this heartside song brought out dramatic qualities which other compositions had not.

Her last group was made up of "Jean" (Spross), "The Brown Bird Singing" (Haydn-Wood) and "Homecoming" (Kilgore), all seeming to lead up to "Adventure," a short song, which came with such forcefulness and beauty of tone that Miss Woodford repeated it as an encore.

Mr. Gustlin selected oriental numbers by Niemann for his last group. "Mirror Lake" evoked tones of that same clarity created by tinkling glass, "Chinese Nightingale" was beautifully rendered; "Pagoda Bells," with its queer tempo and its bell-like notes, was perhaps the most charming of the trio. All were, as the composer had stated, "Expressionistic, delicate and fairy-like." Rendition of an encore, "Chinese Quarrel," demanded as much energy of the pianist as the quarrel did of its participants.

Nominating Committee Named by Ebell

Preparing for their annual election of officers, members of Ebell society selected a nominating committee of five members last night during a short business meeting in the clubhouse.

Mrs. F. F. Mead and Mrs. Harvey Gardner were appointed on the committee. Mesdames Philip Hatzfeld, W. H. Haddon, and George Raymer were elected from the floor.

Mrs. C. V. Davis, president, conducted the meeting. Announcement was made that Mrs. Jack Valley will give a program of current events and book reviews at the next club session, Monday afternoon, April 8 at 2 o'clock in the clubhouse. Mrs. Valley is scheduled to give another program for the club May 13.

YOU and Your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Adamson, 1017 North Ross street, and Mr. and Mrs. James Akers of Orange spent Sunday motoring to Palm Springs, the Salton Sea and other inland points.

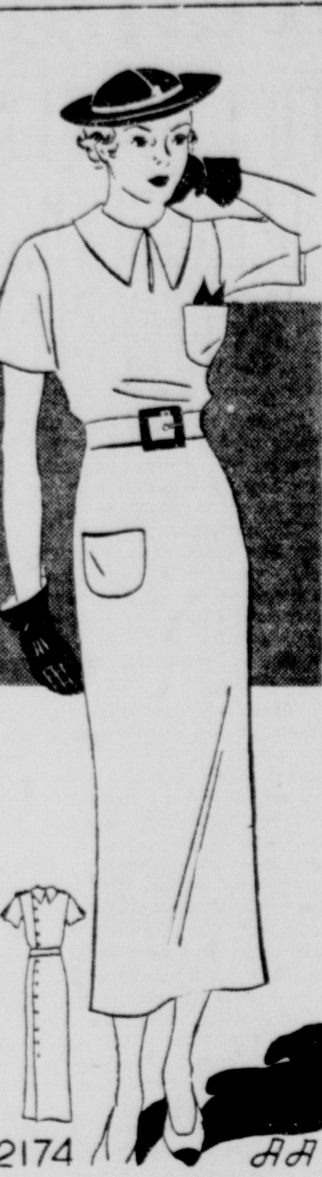

Mesdames Theo Wimbler, Lewis F. Moulton, Elmer Burns and Arthur Lyon formed a party spending the past few days in the north. They left here the latter part of the week, going to Bakersfield and Arvin to view the wild flowers. They motored on to Santa Barbara, returning home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Annin and son, Bobbie, 1906 North Broadway, made a week end trip to San Diego, where they visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Varley and family. They spent Saturday night with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osborn at La Jolla.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bolles, 1501 North Ross street, had as week end guests their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bolles of Moorpark, Calif.

Native Daughters Are Hostesses to Their Grand President

Expressing the hospitality of the Southland upon the occasion of the official visit of Gladys Nee, grand president of Native Daughters of the Golden West, Santa Ana parlor, Grace parlor, Placencia, joined last night to present a dinner in advance of the business session.

This function, staged in Green Cat cafe, was made a lavish affair, with officers from the two hostess parlor groups complete with covered wagon. Flavors were little pottery sombreros which held salted nuts. And for each feminine guest at this officers' table, the hostesses had provided a handsome corsage bouquet, with gardenias in a long spray for their grand president.

Presiding over the after-dinner program, Mrs. Ruth Kotlar, Santa Ana president, introduced Matilda Enfield, Grace parlor president, and other guests at the speaker's table. Welcome to the city was expressed by Mayor E. G. Warner. Others introduced included Mayor Young of Placencia, Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools; Terry E. Stephenson, president of Orange County Historical society; Walter R. Giesler, president of Native Sons, and a group of visiting grand officers.

Introduction of Mrs. Nee was followed by a talk in which she sketched the development of California under such men as Father Serra, Portola, Fremont, Kit Carson and others. Achievements of the Native Daughters were cited, such as college scholarships, work for World War veterans and the preservation of the Redwood Memorial Grove in Humboldt county. Mrs. Nee closed with the statement that the "Daughters form an organization of service, a service of joy and a service of love" and was presented with Talisman roses from the Native Sons.

Music on the program was furnished by George Stinson, who sang to Mrs. Stinson's accompaniment, "Annie Laurie," "Until" and "Home on the Range." He also made a short talk on "Safety on the Highway," asking support of the Daughters in efforts to lessen the number of automobile accidents.

Of the 150 dinner guests, only Native Daughters remained for the parlor session, whose opening and closing ritualistic work was conducted by Mrs. Kotlar and her staff. Mrs. Enfield and Grace parlor officers presented initiatory work, adding seven members to their parlor and two to Santa Ana parlor. Mrs. Clara Campbell, mother of Mrs. Kotlar, and Mrs. Alice Hilton.

Both parlors were warmly commended by Mrs. Nee who talked inspiringly on the principles of loyalty and co-operation of all organizations of service. Short talks were given by various visiting grand officers as well.

San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego, Ontario, Glendale, Hollywood and San Pedro parlors were well represented, while special guests included Mrs. Bennett, accompanying her sister, the grand president;

Evening Bridge Group Plays Hearts As Change in Routine

Receiving members of her bridge club, Miss Miriam Samuelson, 2021 Greenleaf street, was hostess at the latest meeting of that group.

In planning the evening, Miss Samuelson had recourse to the white and green of the recent St. Patrick's day, and even chose her prizes with the effect in mind. For pieces of green Fostoria glass were awarded Miss Florence Turner and Mrs. Paul Reynolds, with first and second high scores. Variety in entertainment was offered, for instead of the usual bridge, the hostess introduced progressive hearts in which the scores were made.

For the refreshment hour, shamrock adorned covers were placed on the tables and ices in shamrock form were served with individual cakes, with icing decorations to match.

Present were the Misses Florence Turner, Margaret Guard, Alma McClain, Helen Demetriou, Marjorie Berkner, Roseline Schilling, Dorothy Dunbar, May Hasenjaeger, Mesdames Paul Reynolds, Allen Carstenson, Clyde Higgins, and the hostess, Miss Samuelson.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Wayne McCammet, as matron of honor, wore a grey crepe frock with matching accessories and a corsage of cluster of orchid and pink sweet peas. Wayne McCammet was best man.

Judge Morrison officiated at the service. Guests included parents of the bride couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Word and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will make their home in Santa Ana, where the former is employed in a local market. He attended school in Texas. Mrs. Murphy, who attended Santa Ana High school, has been an operator at a local beauty college.

Post-nuptial Shower Follows Sorority Meeting

As hostess at the latest meeting of Sigma Tau Psi sorority, Mrs. Ramon Buxton (Alice Hanson) arranged a post-nuptial shower in compliment to Mrs. Willard Okey of Hollywood, the former Miss Betty Barkman of this city.

Mrs. Buxton gave the party last week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hanson, 2485 Riverside Drive. The rooms were adorned with many flowers eloquent of a springtime theme which the hostess observed in details throughout the evening.

Following tables were placed for meeting. Prizes went to Miss Jean Rowland, Miss Jane Hill and Mrs. Roy Griset, who scored first, second and high and low at contract bridge; Miss Lucille Howell, who scored high at auction. Awards were suggestive of the Spring season.

Mrs. Okey was showered with bathroom, bedroom and kitchen accessories. While packages were being opened, pledges were busy getting tables ready for the refreshment hour, when frozen dessert was served with cake and coffee.

Present with Mrs. Okey, the honoree, and her mother, Mrs. O. V. Barkman, were Mesdames Edward Sugden, Thomas Jentges, Roy Griset, W. W. Barnett, this city; Mrs. Robert Reid, Balboa Beach; the Misses Genevieve Glover, Jane Hill, Betty Rowland, Joan Rowland, Bethel Dickinson, Mary Ann Madors, Alyce Nelson, Georgia Turner, with the hostess, Mrs. Buxton and her mother, Mrs. Hanson, and pledges including the Misses Marjorie Berkner, Lucille Howell and Elizabeth Meyers.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon
Celery-peanut butter
Lettuce salad
2 graham crackers or 3 small ry-krisp crackers without butter
Tea with milk, no sugar.
Calory total, 240.

Use a celery heart for salad. Butter each stalk with peanut butter mixed lemon juice, cut in short lengths and pile on crisp lettuce. Dress with diet (mineral oil) French dressing. Peanut Butter allowance: 1 Tbsp.

A recipe for a lettuce salad has just been received. On reading it over, it struck me that it might be served either as salad or as a vegetable. As a vegetable it would be very good with fish, don't you think?

Creamy Lettuce Salad
3 small heads of new lettuce, or
2 loosely cut quarts of head or leaf lettuce.

Dressing
1-2 cup diced bacon
1 Tbsp. flour
1 cup sour cream
2 Tbsp. vinegar
2 tps. sugar
1 tsp. salt.

Prepare lettuce, wash and let drain while the dressing is prepared. Fry diced bacon until crisp. Add flour and stir until smooth without browning. Add remaining ingredients and cook stirring constantly, until a smooth mixture is formed. Pour over lettuce, mix thoroughly, and serve at once.

The contributor says: "This is a delicious salad to serve with hashed brown potatoes." And I say, that the combination would amply satisfy those who are observing Lent.

Butterscotch Pie
1 package vanilla pudding

mixture
3 eggs, whites beaten separately
1-2 cup brown sugar
1-3 tsp. maple extract
Pinch of salt
2 cups rich milk.
Heat milk in double boiler, slowly stir in the package of pudding mixture. As this thickens pour in the egg yolks beaten with sugar and maple extract and stir until soft and creamy. Remove from fire, cool partially and whip into the mixture one of the stiffly whipped egg whites to slightly "chiffon" the filling.
Pour into graham cracker pie crust, previously baked to harden, and cover the tops (2 pies) with a meringue made of remaining egg whites, piped around the edges of each pie, middle left clear.
For two crusts use a small package of graham crackers, rolled fine and mixed with 1-2 cup butter and 1-2 cup powdered sugar. Mix as for pie crust. Press against sides and bottom of tin and bake until a nice brown.
Cut in 7 sections (each pie) the value for each cut is slightly over 200 energy calories.

Duchess Apple Pie
2 cups strained unsweetened apple sauce
2 Tbsp. butter
Juice and grated rind of 1 lemon
2 eggs, well beaten and mixed with
1 cup sugar and
1-2 cup fine dry bread crumbs.
Have apple sauce hot, add butter, then beaten eggs, with other ingredients stirred in last. Pour into pastry-lined tin and bake in a 375 degree oven until filling is firm to touch at edge. Cool and serve with whipped cream.

This type of filling finishes the tag end of the apple season to good advantage.

Wednesday: Macaroon Mousse, using the convenient new ice cream mix, and a casserole of Brussels Sprouts for Lenten menus.

Torosa Rebekah lodge will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. in I. O. O. F. hall. District Deputy Beattie H. Stoval will make her official visit.

THE TINYMITES

The Tinties watched the Hindu for a little while, then heard him roar. "I'm getting tired of stirring. Who will help me for a while?"

"We will not find it hard, one bit, if we take turns at stirring it." "I'll do the best I can," replied wee Goldy, with a smile.

"Oh, my, not you," the Hindu said. "I'd rather have a boy, instead. You see, boys have more strength than girls. Here, Duncy, try your hand."

"Okay," replied the Tinymite. "Just watch me and you'll see a sight. I hope the bowl does not blow up. Imagine where I'd land."

"Well, hurry," shouted Coppy. "Gee, we all would like to feel that we have had a share in this strange stunt. I'll do the stirring next."

"The whole thing may turn out a flop, but anyway, we will not stop until the Hindu tells us to. I'm really quite perplexed."

Soon the old giant shouted, "Say, the lads can't keep that up all day. Give me the spoon. I'll stir real fast and end it mighty quick."

"I surely hope you realize, you've promised us a big surprise. 'Twill be too bad for you, young Hindu, if we see no trick."

"Don't worry," snapped the mystic man. And then up to the bowl he ran. "Get ready for the thrill, right now, and do just as I say."

"All of you Tinties gather 'round the bowl and then flop on the

New Tidelands Oil Plan Revealed To H. B. Council

COMPANY MAY OPERATE FROM P. E. PROPERTY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 26.—The city of Huntington Beach may yet get a share of the oil produced from a section of the tidelands in front of the city. Mayor T. B. Talbert at the meeting of the city council last night said that a proposed compromise on tideland drilling had been discussed by him with Ernie Pyle of the Southwest Exploration company, which holds a tideland lease from the city, and with a Mr. Sutro, who represented the Standard Oil company.

Under the proposed compromise plan, the Southwest Exploration company would drill the tideland pool below Twenty-third street to the west city limits at Forty-fifth street from the Pacific Electric right of way and would not drill out in the ocean. The city would receive a royalty of 25 per cent. The remainder of a 25 per cent royalty would go to the Pacific Electric railway and the state of California.

Councilman Willis H. Warner asked many questions about the proposed drilling for oil and Councilman John H. Marion also took part in the discussion, stating that such an arrangement might possibly be made and the city left out entirely, as has been the case with other wells drilled to the tidelands that are paying the state a royalty.

Mayor Talbert explained that the interests discussing the compromise had admitted the city had a moral right to share in the rich oil field if not a legal right and that it was proposed to recognize the city's claim. Mayor Talbert merely presented the information to the council without making any recommendation. At the close of the discussion the matter was held over until the regular meeting of the council next Monday night.

WORLD MUSIC DISCUSSED AT MESAMEETING

COSTA MESA, March 26.—The foremost country of the world in musical education is Germany, Mrs. Ruth Mackenzie said in an address that she made on "Folk Music of the World," at the meeting of the music section of the Woman's club Monday. Russia is second to Germany in music culture, the speaker said. America, the home of Indian, cowboy, Negro and mountain folk songs, is a musical melting pot for the nations of the world, she said. Mrs. Ellen (Englund) Myrren, a native of Finland, spoke briefly of folk songs of her native country and sang, "Nar Sannaren Kammer." Mrs. Custer played "Finlandia" on the piano.

Mandery and Mrs. Nancy Marlowe depicted English, Irish and Scotch airs, accompanied by Mr. Mandery. ### BEACH COUNCIL EXPECTED TO PURCHASE 44 ACRES OF LAND AT MEETING ON NEXT MONDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 26.—Purchase by the city of Huntington Beach of 44 acres of land in section 13 near the Coast highway hinges on the report of state sanitary engineers as to its possibilities for a sewage disposal plant location, it was disclosed at last night's meeting of the city council.

The land was offered to the city at a cost of $3750, and on motion of Councilman Willis Warner, seconded by Councilman John H. Marion, the council voted to buy the property at next week's meeting, provided the state engineer's report is favorable. The property is a half mile east of the present sanitary sewer, which must be moved a half mile off the highway.

The acreage is said to have possibilities for water development and is pointed out that it might be included in a municipal park or developed for agricultural purposes. The low price quoted was due to the land having been taken over by a foreclosure, Mayor T. B. Talbert said, in reporting the offer.

Pier Contract Let
The city council let a contract to John C. Bauer, 3555 Myrtle avenue, Long Beach, for pier repairs on his low bid of $1450. The city engineer's estimate of the cost was $1327.28. After a discussion the council decided the bid was near enough to warrant letting the contract. A. K. Condee, 2175 Fairfield avenue, Hollywood, submitted a bid of $1850. On motion of Councilman Warner, seconded by Councilman Tavatt the mayor was authorized to sign a contract with Bauer.

A petition signed by 30 residents was presented and read by City Clerk C. R. Furr asking that Frankfort street be extended to connect Alabama and Main streets at a point near the corner of Fifth and Main. City Engineer Harry Overmeyer was instructed to prepare an estimate of the feasibility and cost of the proposed street extension and report at the next meeting of the council.

A petition signed by 40 residents asked the council to extend one of three east side streets across the flat lands east of the city to connect with Coast highway at the beach. The petitioners suggested Delaware, California or Huntington avenue. The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans and an estimate of the cost of the project. Both petitions had been circulated by Carl M. Hill, prominent east side resident and dairyman.

Four Firms Delinquent
The city clerk reported that while last year 40 oil companies were delinquent in their property taxes, this year only four companies were delinquent. He asked and was granted permission to refer the four delinquents to the city attorney to take what steps are necessary to collect the taxes. Chief of Police Geizer asked the council to purchase two new motorcycles for the police department, the cost to be $110 for both motorcycles. Geizer pointed out that needed repairs to the two motorcycles he wanted to replace would cost $310. The matter was referred to the police committee for investigation and report. The chief of police also asked for an extra man to be employed at a salary of $140 a month for four and a half months to work during the vacation period when the regular members of the police force would get their annual vacation. The council postponed action until next week.

BEACH PROJECT INSPECTED BY CITY OFFICIALS

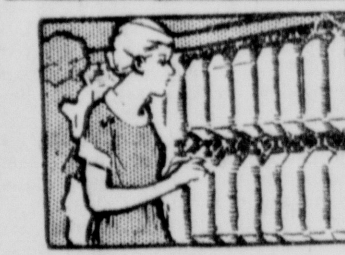

LAGUNA BEACH, March 26.—Members of the city council, accompanied by City Engineer A. J. Stead, Consulting Engineer F. S. Currie of San Bernardino, and Federal Inspector L. R. Reeve, today inspected with a view to formal acceptance, the main project of the new Arch Beach sewer project, which included the laying of sewer mains and the erection of a treatment plant at the mouth of Laguna canyon.

The job, awarded under contract to J. C. Hickey, of Alhambra, was for $155,406, to which amount was added about $8,000 for unforeseen contingencies in construction. Out of the total cost, the city will bear 70 per cent, distributed over long-term bonds. The remaining 30 per cent was donated to the municipality by the federal government as an inducement to undertake public improvements to relieve unemployment.

Proceedings are now under way for installation of sewer laterals in the Arch Beach district and it is expected that the same will be completed in time to call for bids in the early part of June. These proceedings, inquiries at the city hall disclosed, cover a district located between Blue Bird canyon and Thalia street, officially referred to as Arch Beach Sewer Sanitary district No. 1. The cost of installation of laterals in this district will run close to $50,000, it was stated. Following completion of proceedings and the awarding of contract for district No. 1, steps will be taken to initiate proceedings for the installation of sewer laterals in a district covering the territory south of Blue Bird canyon to the city limits, and in another district, extending north and west from Thalia street to the boundaries of the old sewer system.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

TALBERT, March 26.—Observing the fourth birthday of their young grandson, David Sauers, of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Sauers, of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. John Sauers were hosts at a dinner party at their home on Talbert boulevard this week. A green and white color scheme was used at the table by the hostess.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty, 23, second in a silk mill, she and 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father.
STEVE, who also works in the silk mill, asks Gale to marry him. She delays giving the answer. Meanwhile, she meets BRIAN WESTMORE whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian is much attracted to Gale but through the trickery of VICKY THATCHER, society beauty, Gale concludes Brian's attentions are insincere.
VICKY, whose father, ROBERT THATCHER, is general manager of the mill, is scheming to win Brian. PHIL loses his job. ED VOGEL, mill employee, is shot in a street fight and PHIL is arrested, accused of firing the gun. Gale goes to see Phil. Later she asks Steve if there is news of Vogel.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIII
Steve shook his head. "No," he said. "I called the hospital a little while ago and they said Vogel was just the same."

Gale's eyes searched his. "Then what is it?" There's something—"Wait until we get outside," Steve told her. When they were on the street he went on, "I thought I was going to have good news for you but, well, the lawyer I hoped would help us, is out there, they said."

"We've got to have a lawyer," Gale said firmly. "Everybody's against Phil and, oh, Steve, he's innocent! We've got to do something!"

"I know. There's a fellow Joe Gillaspie was telling me about—young fellow who hasn't been practicing law very long. Joe said he's smart though of course, he hasn't had as much experience as some of the other lawyers. I'll find out where he lives and have a talk with him tonight."

"Will you, Steve? Oh, I hope you can persuade him! It's so dreadful—Phil in jail and nobody doing anything to help him! A lawyer is the only one who can help him. I'll see this fellow Joe told me about. If he won't take the case I'll find someone who will."

"Oh, Steve, I'll be so grateful! I only wish I could do more, Gale."

They walked in silence for a few moments. "The main thing," Steve went on, "is that you mustn't worry. It won't help and you'll only make yourself sick. You've got to be calm about this, Gale. Got to keep your nerve—"

"I'll try. I've been—trying!"

"You've done a swell job," he told her, "so far. And I know ### you're going to keep it up. You can't go back on Phil, you know."

The words ran through her head like a refrain. It was what she must remember, what she must tell herself over and over again. She couldn't go back on Phil. He needed her as he had never needed her before. Phil, falsely arrested, held in jail, facing the possibility of a trial for murder, Phil, her little brother, accused of shooting a man—

A sob burst from Gale's lips. "Oh, he didn't do it!" she cried. "Oh, Steve, he didn't!"

"See here—you promised to keep hold of yourself. You're not going to let yourself go to pieces!"

"No—"

"All right then. We've got to keep our heads. It's the only way we can do anything to help Phil. I want you to promise—"

"I promise, Steve! I'll be all right. I won't forget again."

She said goodby at the door of her home. Steve said he'd drop in after he'd seen the lawyer and tell her the news. He went on down the street and Gale went up the steps slowly. A thousand years, it seemed since she'd climbed those steps the night before.

Her father looked up from his book. "Late, aren't you?" he asked.

"Yes, I—walked over town with Steve."

Tom Henderson went on with his reading. It was going to be hard to tell him what had happened—terribly hard.

Gale went through to the kitchen where Mary Cassidy was standing before the stove. Mary turned and asked, "Did you see him?"

"Phil? Yes, I saw him."

"How is he?"

"Oh, he's all right. He'll have to stay where he is—at least for a while. They won't let him leave until they know about Vogel."

"I'll try. I've been—trying!"

"You've done a swell job," he told her, "so far. And I know

4-H CLUBS IN PROGRAM FOR FARM CENTER

LA HABRA, March 26.—Boys and girls of the La Habra 4-H clubs presented demonstrations of their work before the Farm center of La Habra Monday evening. The farm center meeting opened with an old fashioned basket supper in the school cafeteria. After adjournment to the auditorium, Nelson M. Launer, president, turned the meeting over to R. E. Launer, program chairman and boys' 4-H club leader.

Launer presented his boys' club in a seed planting demonstration. Boys who took part in the demonstration were John Conner, Bobby Burrip, Jimmie Launer, O. C. Rich, Steve Foster, John Harman, George Balmer, Bobby O'Neill, Clayton Rowley and Eldon Garretson.

Following this group Rosemarie Leimer of the Happy Workers Girls' club, under the leadership of Mrs. S. R. Burnip gave a demonstration of the making of a bound button-hole and Verle Jackson gave a brief summary of 4-H girls club work.

J. A. Smiley, of West Orange, was the principal speaker of the evening, telling of his several trips to Hawaii. He said that one grove and his son have a 2100-acre tract which they are rapidly setting out to avocados. While they cannot ship this fruit to California, they are shipping in quantities of avocado paste which is being used for ice cream, in the preparation of mustard relish and cosmetics here, he said. They are also shipping tons of the fruit to Japan and China, where they can place the fruit on the docks at a half a cent per pound, including the cost of raising same, he said.

J. W. Crill, president of the Orange County Farm bureau, spoke briefly on the work of the farm bureau. Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, announced the investigation meeting for April 2, at the Washington grammar school in La Habra, when avocado growers will meet to study varieties of fruit. A citrus demonstration on the control of snails in citrus orchards is to be given in Garden Grove at 2 o'clock April 9, it was announced.

The words ran through her head like a refrain. It was what she must remember, what she must tell herself over and over again. She couldn't go back on Phil. ### that might have been a house. There were windows and a door, rather disproportionate, and on top a roof with a chimney from which smoke was issuing. Yes, there was even a garden in front of the house with a flower, almost as tall as the dwelling itself, blooming in the foreground.

"Now, Ruthie, run along," her mother said harshly. "Don't bother Gale with your nonsense. The poor girl's near at her wit's end—"

"It's very fine," Gale told the child gently. "I didn't know you could make such nice pictures."

"Now, Ruthie, I'd like to watch you some other time," Gale turned again to Mary. "Father hasn't heard anything?"

"No. I told him I thought Phil went out when you did this morning. I had to make up something, God forgive me."

"Yes, of course."

"You poor lamb! I know you dread telling him about it."

Gale said, "Yes, but there's no use putting it off." She went back into the living room. All day she had been dreading the moment when she must tell her father about the shooting and Phil's part in it.

The ordeal proved easier than she had expected. Tom Henderson listened, asked a few questions. When Gale had finished he said, "Phil didn't mean to do any wrong. I know that."

"He didn't do it, Father! He didn't!"

Tom Henderson shook his head. "No," he said, "I don't think he did. If the boy's innocent there must be a way to prove it. You say Steve's gone to see a lawyer?"

"He's going tonight. He said he'd stop here afterward."

Tom Henderson took his daughter's hand. He said almost the same words Steve had used. "Try not to worry, Gale. It can't do any good and you'll only get yourself worked up. We'll find some way to help Phil—"

Gale turned so that he could not see that her eyes were moist. She said, "Yes, Father." For an instant the two hands clasped firmly. Then Gale said, "I'd better go help Mary—"

Her father had certainly taken the news better than she had expected. Gale was surprised. It was after the evening meal when she was wiping the dishes as Mary washed them that Mary said,

"Your father don't look so good, do you think so?"

"Why—I thought he seemed rather tired."

***

Mary nodded. "Looks sort of peaked," she went on. "I noticed it when he first came to the table. I don't believe all that readin' he does is good for him. Sits there all day with his nose in a book. And he didn't eat nothin'—hardly nothin'. But then you didn't eat more than a mouthful yourself."

"I wasn't hungry."

"You ought to eat just the same. A body can't keep goin' 'less they eat."

Gale did not answer. Her eyes were on the clock on the shelf across the room. She said, "I suppose it's too early to look for Steve yet."

"Did he say when he'd come?"

"No. Just said he'd stop in after he'd seen the lawyer."

Mary soaped the dishcloth and washed a plate. "Lawyers," she said, "cost money."

"I don't care about that. I'll work—I'll find some way to pay, if only they will set Phil free. You see he didn't do it, Mary! He didn't have anything at all to do with it. The whole thing was framed—I know!"

"I know! I know!" Mary had heard all that before. She washed another dish. "I don't say I believe it," she went on, "but I think you oughta know what they're sayin'. They're sayin' Phil and Ed Vogel was fightin' over that no-count Ruby Griffith. They say there'd been trouble between 'em before. I was down to the grocery this mornin' and I heard Sam Watson shootin' off his mouth about it. I told him they wasn't a word of truth in

WHAT PLAN?

There are four plans before congress to furnish security for the aged, the sick, the indigent and the unemployed. All of them have their large quota of supporters, and each of them have sponsors who believe that their plan is the only plan and the best plan.

There is first of all, the administration plan. This provides, with the co-operation of the states, the payment of around $30 a month to the indigent over 65 years of age. This money is to be raised by taxation for the first few years, but ultimately it is to be provided from a fund contributed by employers, workers and the state.

Then there is the Townsend plan, which would give $200 a month to everyone over 60 years of age who needs it. Those receiving it are to contract to engage in no other business for profit and to spend all within the country each month.

Their past life must be free from habitual criminality. The money is to be raised by a two to three per cent transaction-sales tax which will go to make up a revolving pension fund. This fund, when established, will automatically keep the plan going without further taxation. The congress is asked to appropriate $2,000,000,000 to meet the first pension payments.

Huey Long's bill provides for $30 a month to every one over 60 years of age unless he has an income of over $1000 a year or has property to the amount of more than $10,000. This amount is to be raised by an income tax imposed upon those whose income is over a million, upon inheritances of over five millions, and on those who are worth 50 millions and over.

Finally, there is the so-called Lundeen "Social Insurance" plan. This plan authorizes the Secretary of Labor to set up an insurance commission for unemployment, part-time work, inability due to sickness, accident, old age and maternity. The beneficiaries are to receive not less than $10 per week, with $3 additional for each dependent. Funds are to be raised by a tax on inheritance and gifts, and on individuals and corporations having an income of $5000 a year and over.

Just what will come out of the consideration of these bills is difficult to forecast. The United States is far behind most of the European countries in the matter of social security laws.

The question has not been so urgent with us until recent years. But now something needs to be done. The unemployment problem, the staggering problem of public relief, and the problem of old age are pressing us as never before.

It is difficult to get the viewpoint of commercial and industrial interests which have set themselves in opposition to these measures. The security of millions of people against the depressing situations of our industrial society, as well as the stability of democratic institutions, depend upon facing rightly the problems which these plans seek to ameliorate.

WHY WORRY?

A report from a Kansas town tells of a public gathering at which a woman fainted. Some one shouted: "Is there a doctor in the audience?" Immediately, four pathologists, three surgeons, two toxicologists, one dentist, three general practitioners, two chemists and one pharmacist responded.

The woman revived before any one of these professionals reached her. Had she continued in the faint for a few moments longer, who knows but in addition to all these professionals a few osteopaths, chiropractors, a professor of jiu-jitsu, a couple of veterinarians, and a sanitary inspector might have appeared on the scene?

There is little to worry about in these days in case of accident or sudden illness, whether in city or country, on a train or on the street, at home or in a public gathering. There are professional men of every variety close at hand to bring relief. Never has the world been better equipped with a greater variety of professional people to attend to the frailties and the casualties of our human existence.

We are told of China where there is only one doctor within a radius of a hundred miles. Schweitzer in Africa and Grenfell in Labrador cover a territory of a thousand square miles in their medical and surgical service.

In the light of this report from Kansas, we might spare a few of our doctors for these needy regions. In this country, it is the doctors who have to worry. In many other countries, it is the masses of the people who worry.

"THE COMMON ENEMY"

A set of resolutions on the death of a friend a few days ago, adopted by a group of his professional associates, started out with the words: "Whereas the common enemy of man has again entered our ranks," etc.

This characterization of death still persists in the minds of great masses of people. We wonder if it is really so, whether death is not often a friend, especially when it comes as release from pain and from the inevitable disabilities of old age. All of us have experienced times when it was a matter of rejoicing because death had laid its hand upon one whose life had ceased to be a comfort to himself or to his associates.

Death in childhood and youth or in the midst of usefulness is always a tragedy. Death was not intended for such and modern science has done much to avert such tragedies.

But death in the fullness of years is one with the ripening of fruit. That for which life primarily exists has been realized. Nothing more can be achieved by living.

We wonder what would have become of the world had death not overtaken many whose lives were a scourge to the world. What if youth, with its inexperienced passion and chimerical hopes, were not ever renewing itself? One cannot but sympathize with one of our great writers who said that if life went on forever, the world would long ago have stagnated and gone to seed.

Age for the most part is conservative. It has the look backward. For one Justice Holmes, whose mind never aged and who never lost his progressive outlook upon the world, there are thousands of men who live with their memories rather than with their hopes.

These latter trig the wheels of the car of progress. Nature, or the Creator, has ordained that they should pass on for their own good as well for the good of the world.

Sad as it often is to lose from sight those with whom we have associated pleasantly in life, the thoughtful men would not have it otherwise.

In the play, "Death Takes a Holiday," the playwright takes the sensible view when he portrays the so-called "common enemy" as a charming prince from whom only the conventional and the stodgy recoil, while vivacious youth looks upon it with infatuation.

HAND IT TO THE GERMAN PARSONS

The refusal of more than a thousand German parsons to bow before the shrines of ancient Teutonic gods at the behest of the Hitler government is evidence that courage has not died in Germany under the dictatorial edicts of the Fuehrer.

These parsons are all loyal Germans. They probably have no objection whatever to the Nazi political philosophy. But they will not surrender their spiritual freedom. Their religion is a personal matter, not at all subject or inimical to the state.

It is fortunate for Germany at the present time, when the Germans have become puppets in the hands of the Nazi chief, that there are those who can stand their ground, and say to their rulers: "Thus far shalt thou go and no further." Luther has not lived in vain. His spirit is the spirit of Germany personified in the realm of the spiritual.

The type of Christianity held by these parsons is very different from that held by the liberal American Christian. But such as it is, it lies within the realm of conscience; and within that realm these parsons mean to be free.

No doubt, the uncompromising attitude of these parsons is a bit irritating to the Nazi chief, but in the long run it may save for the German people some of that individual right of initiative without which no nation can be strong and no people can be thoroughly happy and effective.

New Deal Is Needed For Jokes and Jokers

San Bernardino Sun
When one hears "A good time was had by all" it is customary to wonder what in Heaven's name has become of the poor wretch who furnished it. Where does he now conceal his shame or nurse his bruises? Because in this jovial world few jokes that have no victim are good, few gulps that do not find their point in a heart. Most practical jokes come near to being tragic to some one.

Oh, these roguish spirits! How many fulfill their lives in devising innocent and original ways of causing pain, embarrassment, shock and fear! Yes, the world is full of normal, healthy souls going about giggling like this at any misfortune or acute discomfort, and if they fail to find it they always stand ready to invent it for amusement's jolly sake. Making of pain a jest and of jest a pain. "The darker the crime," one can imagine them snickering in their good-natured way, "the deeper the joke."

America, they will tell you, needs more wholesome humor to relieve it of its jaded and sorrowful anything from a bluish to poisoning will do as a starter. And sometimes to prove they can be serious if they wish they will stare at an idiot and remark "Poor fellow, what a shame to be in his condition." And they don't know the half of it.

What a pity the prank and practical joke do not amuse the victim as well as the jolly fellows who perpetrate them. But greater pity 'tis that the unappreciated are omitted.

Deeds of Life Stand As Their Own Memorial

San Bernardino Sun
That styles in tombstone inscriptions are subject to change and have changed in certain essential respects during the last half century are facts brought to public attention by a veteran Ohio stonemason who has been carving epitaphs for five decades. The public, however, will not agree with him that the change is for the worse.

The sculptor for the dead laments that sentimental epitaphs are no longer inscribed on headstones. The modern custom of carving only names and dates on tombstones represents to him so much less work per stone.

Perhaps there are still places in the "uncivilized" hinterland where mourning relatives cause to be chiseled upon the monuments of the dead brief testimonials to the character of the deceased, elegiac or scriptural verses, and even notes of warning to the living or an aphorism on the dead. Rural cemeteries furnish many grotesque examples of this custom of not so long ago.

And why should the tombstone furnish more facts about the dead than the name and dates of birth and death? Man's works are preserved elsewhere than on polished slabs of marble and as he lives he writes the record of that life upon a tablet that not even time can wholly efface.

Dizzy After Sultan

New York Times
Babe Ruth has not lost all of his famous "color" if one may judge by the news from the Florida baseball parks. An unprecedented crowd turned out to see his first game in a Boston Brave uniform against the Yankees. The New York team lost that game and the next day, so that the color was there, even if Ruth was not the principal instrument of victory.

But no matter what the coming season may do to Ruth, it is evident that his successor has already been chosen. The Sultan of Swat is dead, long live the Dizzy Dean. The new monarch is the theme of a growing literature in the papers and the magazines. Cynics will say that another build-up is under way for the benefit of the gullible public. But these are the people who can prove black on white that if it had not been for propaganda nobody would have heard of Lindbergh.

Whether the eccentric Dean will be as well liked as Ruth, or his reign will last as long, is another matter. He is too volatile and too comic. The public likes its heroes moderately silent.

Government Relief

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A NEW FREEDOM

The governor of the state of Washington had decided that Indians, if they use discretion, may take small drinks now and then.

The Red Man at last is our brother:
No more need he furtively slink
To a low city slum
In quest of the rum
That the luckier palefaces drink.
A governor just has decided
That poor Lo may stand up at a bar—
If the cash he has got—
And absorb a small tot.
While he puffs on his five-cent cigar.

For years he'd been sternly forbidden
With a tippie to moisten his lips;
Although haughty and proud,
He had not been allowed
To toss off occasional sips.
Whenever he found himself tempted
To pour down a beaker of ale,
If for cash he had got
And absorbed a small tot.
He'd been speedily cast into jail.

But today—in one state—he's permitted
To sample the goods on the shelf
If he uses his brain
And takes care to refrain
From making a pig of himself.
Let us trust that he takes small potatoes.
With water enough on the side,
Doesn't get into jail
By consuming mixed ale,
And never embarks on a tide.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

The A. P. likes a joke. Today it tells what "unbiased observers" think of a strike situation. Don't despise the platitudes. It may indicate the dullness of the stupid or the prudence of the great. Congenial couple: Man and wife who have the same opinion about daily baths.

Underworld version: A friend in need is a friend you can bleed.

SOLICIT FUNDS FOR A GOOD CAUSE AND YOU'LL DISCOVER THAT ARTERIES AREN'T THE ONLY THINGS THAT HARDEN WITH AGE.

If you are about to need help, deal carefully with your friends. They are easy to offend at such times.

Work and save, young man, and some day you'll have enough to divide with those who didn't.

Huey's idea isn't new. The busy bees gather honey and man comes along and divides their wealth.

AMERICANISM: Statesmen getting elected by promising to support the President; voting against the President because his secretary hurt their feelings.

If a machine does the work of two men, that is progress. If a man does it, he is keeping some poor guy out of a job.

Whether rich or poor, if he gets more than he earns, he lives by the sweat of another man's brow.

Ruling class: The one that shudders when it must deal with the vulgar upstarts who run things.

BEWARE THE HABITUAL BORROWER. IF HE ISN'T ASHAMED TO ASK FAVORS, HE ISN'T ASHAMED TO FORGET ABOUT THEM.

Conservatives: The steady people who harness and use the wild ideas suggested by radicals.

How quickly a Senator is reconciled to a big appropriation when he gets to handle part of it.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "I AM WORRIED AND SHAMED," SAID THE AVERAGE CITIZEN, "BY THE APPEARANCE OF OUR BACK STREETS."

Thoughts On Modern Life

MR. LIPPMAN AND CIVIL LIBERTY

Day before yesterday I listed some fundamental questions about the civil liberties of free speech, free press and free assembly which the arrest of John Strachey, philosopher of Communism, has raised. Yesterday I defined a new position taken by the New Republic on the problem of civil liberties, a position that is markedly different from the traditional attitude of liberalism, an attitude that regards liberty, not as an abstract good, but as a means to an end.

Today I want to define a philosophy of the use of freedom advanced by a former editor of the New Republic, Mr. Walter Lippmann, in certain recent comments on Senator Long and on Mr. Strachey. Mr. Lippmann raises some bitter questions.

Just what are the rights of a Communist in a bourgeois, capitalistic and democratic society when he sets out to advocate a system of government which confessedly will destroy any such rights of free addition?

May or may not a democratic government, in adhering to civil liberties, take steps to defend these liberties—such as freedom of speech, press and assembly—against those who would destroy them?

Should freedom of speech be granted to a man who wants to advocate a revolution which would destroy freedom of speech?

Should we allow men to exploit democracy in order to defeat democracy?

Mr. Lippmann is clear in his own mind that liberty is so precious a thing that men should not be granted the liberty to destroy liberty, the freedom to agitate for a regime that would deny freedom to its doubters.

With Mr. Lippmann the administration of civil liberties becomes a matter of "prudent policy" instead of rights.

I present this point of view as another variation in attitude towards freedom of speech, press and assembly.

A little later I shall return to this issue with a statement of my own point of view.

SECOND WIND

DEAR BOYS AND GIRLS: Along about this part of the school term you begin to slow down. Your lessons seem tedious and dull and the teacher seems bent on making them as long and as hard as possible. There's too much home work and too little fun. You wish school would close, or burn up that you with a vacation trip. Anything to get rid of the daily grind of 9 o'clock, 12 o'clock, 1 o'clock and 3 and over again next day.

This weary feeling is nothing unusual. Everybody has it. Your mother is just as tired of rising to get you off to school, feeding the baby and the dog, doing the marketing, getting the meals, proofing your papers and so on, that you will find you along so that you will get something done each day. But she does not stop work on that account. She knows that by keeping steadily on the feeling will pass and she will feel more like work, say next week.

We all have this spell of wishing we could lie down and sleep in the sun forever and ever. Real people shake it off and go on but the feeble folk step aside and rest by the wayside and are left there indefinitely in the mud.

Did you ever run a race? Or play a game against strong opposition? Ever enter a tournament? Remember how one time you felt that you were going to die right then and there? You couldn't draw another breath, strike another ball, move another muscle? And did you hold on anyway and discover to your great joy that you were breathing easily again and that the awful feeling has passed? If ever you have gone through this experience and discovered your second wind you will understand what I mean when I tell you that if you manage to hold out against that all-in feeling for one more round you will find yourself going along easily under new power.

In every job no matter how attractive, there is a moment of despair, a time when everything goes black before your eyes and you feel beaten and spent. Don't let that moment defeat you. Hold fast. Rest your mind a minute, but keep going in spirit. If it is a hard example, go wash your face and hands with warm water and soap, then finish with cold clear water. Brush your hair and then go into the open air for a lungful of fresh air. Breathe deeply and easily. Then go back to the job. Take a fresh sheet of paper, a new pencil, and begin again. Keep at the job until you finish it.

Do that once, fight the battle to the finish, and it will never come as long as you live, be so hard again. You will have found your second wind. By some mysterious power you have unlocked new sources of power. You will get tired again but you will never feel that sense of despairing failure again. You will know that just beyond the Hill of Difficulty lies the pleasant land of achievement.

If you have begun to feel that eighty is good enough and seventy-five will do, take a long breath and buckle down to work leet the thing called failure get you. Keep going. Hold on until you get your second wind. It is that queer experience that spreads your growth and gives you new power. Don't miss it. Hold on until it comes.

Affectionately yours, A. P.
